Managua Rebuilding Plan Is Considered

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Experts from the United States began a study today of the feasibility of rebuilding earthquake-shattered Managua on its present site.

Teams of geologists and seismologists arrived from the United States Thursday as specialists from Mexico and Venezuela announced preliminary findings.

Demolition crews were still dynamiting and bulldozing in the downtown area next to Lake Managua, clearing it of damaged structures and the rubble of buildings and homes that were flattened in seconds by the severe quake early Saturday. An estimated 2,000-5,000 persons were killed and 20,000 seriously injured.

Although Managua has been hit twice in 40 years by murderous earthquakes, a group of Mexican experts led by Dr. Cinna Lomnitz reported to Nicaraguan authorities that there was no need to relocate their capital city.

"Most of the city is located on hard volcanic tuff—solid stuff," said Lomnitz, director of the Department of Seismology at the University of Mexico. "Its subsoil is sounder than that of Mexico City, for instance."

He said the damage was so great because the epicenter of the quake was right underneath the city.

"It was like a direct hit by a bomb," he explained.

The Mexican experts suggested that the damaged area be turned into a park or "green zone."

An estimated 15,000 persons were still roaming the city center despite its designation as an "emergency" or "contaminated" area and orders to evacuate it. Shooting was heard Thursday as national guard patrols tried to drive off looters, but it appeared that mostly they were shooting over their heads. Unofficial reports said only 32 persons had been treated for bullet wounds since Saturday. There were rumors of looters being killed, but no confirmed reports.

In an attempt to drive all survivors from the city to facilitate the clearing operation, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the country's ruler, ordered that food be given out only at distribution points outside the city.

A fire department official estimated that a third of Managua's 300,000 population still disregarded the orders to get out.

Plane Crash Kills 7 Persons

AMHERST, Neb. (AP)—Five members of a North Glenn, Colo., family and a man and wife from Thornton, Colo., were killed Thursday night in the crash of a single engine plane near here.

The single engine Cherokee PA-32, leased from Lease-A-Plane in Denver, was en route from Denver to Omaha.

The Buffalo County sheriff's office identified the victims as Larry Hall, 31, his wife, Sharon, 29, their three children, Larry, Susan and Aaron, and Douglas Stanley, 24, and his wife, Annette, 22. The Halls were from North Glenn, Colo., and the Stanleys were from Thornton, Colo.

They were en route to Omaha to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carter. Hall was Mrs. Carter's brother. The Colorado residents were scheduled to go on to Detroit, Mich., to attend a wedding following their Omaha visit.

Federal Aviation Administration officials said their Denver office is handling the investigation into the crash and that Lee Martin of the National Transportation Safety Board is heading a team looking into the accident. FAA officials from Kansas City were due at the crash site Friday.

The wreckage of the plane, believed piloted by Stanley, was scattered over a 10-acre area.

Authorities said Hall also is a pilot. Two area residents reported hearing the plane and seeing a flash immediately prior to the 7:30 p.m. crash.

Amherst is about 15 miles northwest of Kearney.

The pilot of the Cherokee 6 PA-32 asked the Denver Center for a weather advisory and "radar service," shortly before the aircraft dropped from a radar screen around 7:30, the FAA said. The plane was in the vicinity of North Platte, Neb., at that time.

Amherst is approximately 100 miles southeast of North Platte.

But Not Howard Hughes

Billionaire Brigade Lives It Up

LONDON (AP) — While Howard Hughes stayed locked in his London hotel fortress today, two fellow members of the Billionaire Brigade were pouring champagne to greet the New Year.

"I believe in living as full a life as anybody else," said J. Paul Getty, reputedly richer than Hughes the recluse.

With Getty at Sutton Place south of London was another tycoon who leads the good life, shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy.

Onassis arrived unannounced Thursday from Paris and went straight to Getty's mansion in Surrey. His visit, following quickly on Hughes' sudden arrival from Nicaragua, brought speculation that big deals might be in the making.

But aides insisted it was strictly a social call. Getty and Onassis are personal friends from way back.

Getty broke away from his house party to talk about his philosophy of living with riches at the age of 80.

"I'd have liked you to come down and see me here but the house is full of guests and I haven't a minute to spare," he said. "So let's talk on the telephone."

Getty said his one big dislike is being photographed. Most of his pictures come out long-faced, giving rise to the widespread belief in London that despite his wealth he isn't really happy.

"I'm always told to pose," he said. "The result is that I come out looking sad on pictures."

"I'm not sad."

Another thing he doesn't like is being thought of as a big walking bundle of greenbacks.

"I've other interests," he said.

"Collecting works of art is one of my main hobbies. And I love going to the theater. As for television, I watch it like anyone else if the program is good."

Asked whether he was afraid in this violent age of anything happening to him,

Getty replied:

"I take my chance like anyone else. I don't like to lock myself up and I like meeting people."

Getty conceded he was missing the open beaches and the sea of his native California.

"I love walking in the sand and swimming. I have a swimming pool right here," he said.

His parting words were: "I wish you a happy New Year."

Over at the Inn on the Park, Hughes stayed inside his ninth-floor hideout locked off behind bodyguards, three sets of locked doors and closed-circuit security television.

Terrorists to Cairo

Hostages Released

CAIRO (AP) — Determined to avoid another Munich, Thai officials argued four Black September members into leaving the Israeli Embassy in Bangkok today, freeing their hostages and then flying to Cairo.

When the Thai plane touched down after a 4,800-mile flight, the four commandos emerged smiling. They were taken to a police car that drove off. They were not handcuffed.

Accompanying them on the flight, broken only by a refueling stop in Pakistan, were 10 Thai officials and the Egyptian ambassador to Thailand, Mustafa el Essawy. They came along to guarantee the four terrorists' safety.

"Munich was terrible so we tried our best to avoid another one," said Dawee Chutlasapya, the Thai air chief marshal. He was the highest-ranking official aboard the plane.

The Arabs had threatened Thursday to kill six Israeli hostages and blow up the embassy unless Israel freed 36 Palestinians held in prison.

The embassy siege lasted 19 hours. "I had Munich in mind as I negotiated with them," Chutlasapya told reporters. "So I decided not to use violence."

He was referring to the Black September massacre of 11 Israeli sportsmen at the Olympics in Munich.

Chutlasapya had negotiated with the Arabs Thursday and early today before the commandos agreed to free their hostages and leave of Cairo.

The Thais will fly back to Bangkok Saturday.

The Thai air chief marshal recalled that at one point during the negotiations, he told the guerrillas "that Israel would never give in to your demands ... and I tried to explain that the day was sacred in Thailand because our prince was being crowned."

King Bhumipol, he added, "asked me not to do anything harmful if possible" for this reason.

"Finally we reached an agreement," he said. "I told them to be my guests. I will fly out to Cairo. I selected Cairo because it is a big Arab city and a very important center."

The Egyptian government agreed to receive the commandos.

A group of Egyptian officials and officers stood around the passenger ramp. A representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization said he did not know if Egyptian authorities would turn over the four commandos to him.

Egyptian newspapers hailed the Arabs' action. One columnist said their act proved their spirit "to fight has not faded away despite all attempts to liquidate the Palestinian movement."

The commandos began their attempt Thursday when they walked into the Israeli Embassy, some in formal attire.

The Arabs had vowed to die with their hostages if Israel did not release 36 Arab and Japanese terrorists it holds prisoner. The Israeli government rejected the demand, maintaining its position that any concession to terrorism breeds more terrorism.

The Arabs gave up after negotiating all night with the Egyptian ambassador to Thailand, high-ranking Thai officials and leaders of the million-strong Moslem community in Thailand.

Ruth Hadass, a hostage along with her husband, Nitzan, the embassy's first secretary, clutched a wine glass and danced

Protest U.S. Attack Policies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Worldwide protests mounted today against renewed U.S. bombing of North Vietnam ordered by President Nixon after secret peace talks collapsed in Paris.

In China, Premier Chou En-lai was reported to have said that the bombing "certainly" would have an adverse effect on relations with the United States.

"The United States government should stop the bombing," he told Washington Post reporter Marilyn Berger. "I hope you will convey my answer to the American people."

Stirrings of protest were also evident in the U.S. Congress, where 18 House Democrats said they were seeking a special session of the Democratic National Committee to organize a national campaign of public opposition to the bombing, now in its 12th day.

And a Republican senator from Ohio said in an interview that he was dropping his support of Nixon's war policies because of the chief executive's "arrogance and irresponsibility."

Sen. William B. Saxbe told the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "I have followed President Nixon through all his convolutions and specious arguments, but he appears to have lost his senses on this."

A member of the Senate Armed Service Committee, Saxbe predicted, "He is going to have all kinds of trouble. He has asked no support, and he'll not get it."

In London, Roy Jenkins, former deputy leader of Britain's opposition Labor party, has appealed to Prime Minister Edward Heath to speak out against the bombing.

saying it was "one of the most cold-blooded actions in recent history."

At the United Nations, a Vietnam debate was being considered by a loose organization of 60 nonaligned nations. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim received an appeal from Sweden's five main political parties to seek an end to the bombing.

Elsewhere, about 40 Korean War veterans from western Canada said they would return their war service medals as a protest against the bombing and against what they described as Canada's failure to cease supplying the United States with war materials.

In Australia, the Seamen's Union said it had told Nixon in a telegram of a decision to provide no tugs for U.S. ships seeking to berth in or depart from the country's ports.

In New Congress

Church Affiliations Favor Protestants

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Methodists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians make up the lion's share of the new Congress which convenes Jan. 3, the proportion of them exceeding their part of the population. Roman Catholics and Baptists in Congress just about match their percentage of the citizenry. But Lutherans fall short of doing so.

These are among factors apparent in a breakdown of religious affiliations of new members of the Senate and House.

Another aspect that shows up is that while most Protestants in Congress tend to be closely divided between Democrats and Republicans, most Lutheran representatives are Republicans and most Baptists are Democrats. So are most Jews and Roman Catholics.

The statistics were compiled by the interdenominational fortnightly, Christianity Today.

They show that 115 Roman Catholics in the two houses make up the biggest contingent of any one denomination. But Protestants of various denominations collectively hold far more seats — about 400. More than half of them — 228 — are Methodists, Presbyterians or Episcopalians.

Although the country's 3.4 million Episcopalians are only a tiny segment of the population — less than 2 per cent — 66 of them hold about 13 per cent of the seats in the House and Senate. Similarly, the 84 Methodists and 78 Presbyterians in the two houses occur py a somewhat larger proportion of Congress than their part of the population, although less strikingly so than for the Episcopalians.

On the other hand, Lutherans, of which there are nearly 9 million in the country, all but five of them Republicans.

Of the vast body of Baptists in the country, more than 20 million of them, 55 hold seats in Congress, all but 16 of them Democrats. Most Jews in Congress — 11 out of 14 — also are Democrats, as are a majority of Roman Catholics, 84 of 115.

All four Eastern Orthodox members of Congress are Democrats.

However, with the exception of Baptists (mostly Democrats) and Lutherans (mostly Republicans), other Protestants in Congress generally are closely divided between the two parties, despite slight edges one way or the other.

Totals of seats held by members of the various denominations include:

Roman Catholic, 115; Methodist, 84; Presbyterian, 78; Episcopal, 66; Baptist, 55; United Church, 27; Lutheran, 16; Jewish, 14; Latter-day Saints, 10; Christian Church (Disciples), 9; Unitarian-Universalist, 9; Churches of Christ, 7; Christian Science, 5; Eastern Orthodox, 4; Society of Friends, 4; Evangelical Free Church, 2, and eight other small denominations, one each.

Nineteen members of Congress listed themselves simply as "Protestant" without specifying any denomination. Four others simply listed "none" regarding religious affiliation.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Two Ex-smokers
Want To Repent

Dear Dr. Lamb — My husband and I have recently given up smoking. We each smoked about a pack a day for many years. Now we are desperately sorry for the damage we have done to our bodies. We have heard that the lungs start cleaning themselves as soon as a person stops smoking. Is this correct?

We are wondering if there is anything we can do to help our bodies recover from all the damage. You have mentioned breathing exercises for emphysema victims. Would this help us and if so what are the exercises? Would any special foods or vitamins help? Any suggestions would be appreciated.

Dear Reader — Yes, hindsight is always better than foresight, and it is too bad that people don't realize the full effects of their habits before they form them.

Both men and women who smoke two packs of cigarettes a day or more were found in a survey to lose 50 per cent more time from work, spend 50 per cent more time in bed, and had about twice as many days of restricted activity as non-smokers. The death rate in men 55 to 64 years of age, who smoked 20 cigarettes or more a day was about three times that observed in non-smokers of the same age group.

There is an unending list of problems associated with heavy cigarette smoking which includes face wrinkles and aging of the skin, sudden death from heart disease, increased incidence of ulcers, sinusitis, lung disease, and perhaps a host of other problems that haven't even been identified, without even getting to the serious problem of lung cancer particularly common in men.

It is true that as soon as you stop smoking a reversal of some of these problems occurs. The chronic poisoning effect from nicotine begins to diminish and some of the problems related to the increased incidence of peptic ulcers disappears. In fortunate individuals some of the problems related to the respiratory tract begin to disappear. In men after they have stopped smoking for at least 10 years, their death rate begins to approach the same level noted in individuals who have never smoked.

You can improve your general health at the time you quit smoking. Avoid getting fat and develop a sensible exercise program. Cigarette smoking has the opposite effect on the body from physical fitness.

I believe it is important for people to have good regular respiratory exercises. Much of the act of breathing is associated with the strength and capacity of the chest cage itself; that is, the ribs and the attached muscles. You have to be careful about doing some of these because some of them will cause you to feel faint. I usually recommend that people sit down in a comfortable chair, sit up straight with their hands on top of their head and interlock their fingers. Then take as deep a breath as possible, slowly, and then let it all out slowly. Rest a few seconds and then repeat the procedure. If you breathe too deeply too rapidly you will cause faintness, so do it gradually, but four or five maximum breathing efforts a day helps to maintain the full range of capacity of the lungs. These are useful whether a person has smoked or not.

ICC Has Election
Of Officers

(Democrat-Capitol Service)

CLINTON — The election of officers for 1973, adoption of a record budget and a discussion of the role of the Interchurch Coordinating Council, headquartered here, were the key items of business at the group's meeting recently.

The Rev. Eugene A. Moll, Butler, representing the American Lutheran Church in the ICC, was re-elected to his second term as moderator of the Council's cabinet. Cecil Simpson of the Nevada district of the United Methodist Church was re-elected to his position of vice-moderator.

Mrs. Mary Frances Clary, Montrose, representing the Roman Catholic Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph, was named secretary, and the Rev. Harold E. Ball, of District 8 of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), was named treasurer.

The four officers comprise the executive committee and are responsible for the affairs of the organization.

A record $25,000 operating budget was adopted to cover the cost of administration of the interchurch agency.

Each of the new officers takes his post Jan. 1 and serves a one-year term.

Brazil Missionary

GREEN RIDGE — The Rev. Harold Renfrow, a missionary to Brazil for the past few years, will speak and show a slide presentation at the 7 p.m. Sunday worship service at the Baptist Church here.

Mr. Renfrow is presently on six-month leave from his missionary duties. His presentation will concern missionary work in Brazil. The event is open to the public.

Nixon Action
Attacked By
FB President

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — The Nixon Administration's decision to end the Rural Environmental Assistance Program is illogical, contends John J. Armstrong, president of the Kansas Farm Bureau.

Budget cuts shouldn't be made in a program "when it's a question of keeping the soil and water on the land where we must keep it if consumers are to be assured of a continuing abundant supply of food," he said in a statement issued Thursday.

"In a time when we have a strong national commitment to protecting and preserving the environment, it defies all reason to kill a program which has materially aided in that commitment," Armstrong said.

"REAP and its predecessor, the Agricultural Conservation Program, has made it possible for our state's farmers through cost-sharing to put in thousands of miles of terraces and grassed waterways to keep the soil on the land and out of the rivers and streams."

"It has made it possible to put in several thousand farm ponds to aid in flood control of water runoff," Armstrong said. "And here in one sweeping decision, they kill it."

He said his organization plans to take the fight to Congress to get the REAP program restored. The 1973 share of REAP funds for Kansas was to have been $4.5 million.

Don Todd

Parkview
Church Has Program

Don Todd, youth director for Revival Fires of Joplin, will perform at a special program at Parkview Christian Church at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

A dynamic presentation of music and religious message are offered in Todd's combination of the new sounds of "modern Gospel" music. Through the use of pre-recorded stereo tapes, Todd is accompanied by the Bart Allan orchestra and the New Direction Singers.

Todd has toured extensively throughout the U.S. and several foreign countries. He has written many of the songs contained in his albums himself. He has worked with such entertainers as Art Linkletter, Stuart Hamblin, Vonda Kay Van Dyke and others.

His presentations here this weekend are open to the public.

Manning died at the hospital Thursday.

His two-year-old daughter Melissa remained in critical condition as did Mrs. Harold Bidding. Her husband was transferred from the hospital's intensive care unit and was listed in good condition.

Community Rally
Begins Observance

Sedalia churches participating in Key 73 will launch the local observance with a community evangelistic rally Jan. 7 in the Smith-Cotton High School auditorium. The event will begin at 3 p.m.

The speaker will be the Rev. Charles W. Denton, Springfield, international coordinator of evangelism for the Assembly of God Church.

The Rev. Orval Woolery, chairman of the committee for the Jan. 7 service, said he is working to obtain special music for the event, consisting of combined choirs from several churches as well as small music groups.

Key 73 is an ecumenical evangelistic effort with the theme of "calling our continent to Christ." Local participation is being handled by a Key 73 committee headed by the Rev. Thomas D. Hall, pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Church. Other members of the committee are the Rev. Wilson Phillips, pastor of the Westside Assembly of God church, and the Rev. Richard Leach, associate minister of the First Christian Church.

"The whole program is geared in such a way that any local church can do its own thing," said Dr. Hall. "It is only designed to get every denomination to do what it should be doing anyway — calling people to Christ."

Dr. Hall said participating churches are presently observing a time of prayer and repentance, and will continue to do so until Jan. 7, which is called launch weekend for Key 73. Part of the prayer observance involves a "noon prayer call," a daily reminder of prayer.

Youth participation in Key 73 will be encouraged by activities in the spring, Dr. Hall stated, and Key 73 will culminate with next year's Christmas observance, which will emphasize "putting Christ back in Christmas."

'Animals' in Use
To Ease Boredom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An airline passenger, sitting blank-faced and bored between flights, turns suddenly to stare into the smiling face of a tall carrot chomping rabbit towering above him.

"Eh, what's up, doc?" the rabbit asked.

"Look, there's Bugs Bunny!" a little boy nearby yells.

Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck and Yosemite Sam have just deplaned from a Pacific Southwest Airlines flight. Instantly, the boarding lounge is merry bedlam.

Yosemite Sam holds up a grinning grandmother with his mock cannon. Another youngster tugs at Bugs Bunny's cotton tail.

This is the kind of scene that can be found at San Francisco International Airport almost any day — and which an enterprising young man hopes will soon be a common sight at airports everywhere.

The characters, hired by PSA to entertain its passengers, are the brainchildren of Bob Claus, president of Cartoon Characters, Inc., of San Jose, Calif. He rents his cast of 13 Warner Brothers cartoon characters to airlines, claiming they relieve boredom and nervousness of airport waits and "unwarp people from all their problems."

"Isn't it beautiful?" Claus asked, surveying the pandemonium in the lounge. "Happiness is dying at a very rapid pace. We want to get people smiling again."

Claus, 26, also said he is happy with the in-flight antics of the cartoon characters.

He said he struck upon the idea while sitting depressed one day at the San Jose Airport, wondering why nobody smiled.

Since their first PSA flight Dec. 15, Claus said the comic figures have logged more than 20,000 miles.

The characters are played by unemployed actors, actresses, drama students and just plain hams.

"We're all crazy," said Cathy McIntosh, 22, an ex-television model who plays Daffy Duck.

"It's so much fun to light up grumpy faces."

Claus, a former airport baggage handler, said he sold the idea to PSA by sending a man dressed as Bugs Bunny to the airline's executive offices.

PSA President J. Boyd Andrews "didn't believe it at first," Claus said, "but he signed a one-month contract with an option to renew."

Dwane Wittmayer, PSA vice president of sales, said the cartoon characters are in keeping with the airline's motto of "putting the fun back into flying." PSA also dresses its stewards in miniskirts and has conducted various inflight contests for passengers, awarding free dinners and vacations as prizes.

Politicians
Are Blocked
By Court Move

BELLEVEILLE, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and governor-elect Daniel Walker were enjoined Thursday by Circuit Court Judge Robert Gagen from implementing a plan to split the East Side Levee and Sanitary District into two units.

The judge issued the temporary injunction after three levee district trustees filed a suit to contest the split-up of the district, which was included in a bill passed by the state legislature and signed by Ogilvie.

The bill would have divided the district, which is designed to prevent flooding along the Mississippi River, into two parts along the boundaries of Madison and St. Clair counties. The bill was initiated by Madison County legislators after a series of fiscal and administrative scandals in the district.

The temporary injunction prohibits Ogilvie or Walker from making any appointments to the boards in Madison or St. Clair counties and allows the present combined board to continue its operations.

Predate Checks
Lest You Forget

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — During the first part of any year most of us have trouble remembering to use the new calendar year date on our checks. After I write my last check in December I go through the balance of the checks in my book and put the date of the new year on each blank check. Continue on into another book of checks if you feel it necessary and have no more errors. Anyone fortunate enough to have a cake divider with about 12 times should use it to prick the tops of those new gelatin cakes and find it is really a time saver. — C. C. W.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — How does one tell, at a glance, the difference between a plain sewing machine needle and a ball point machine needle (for knits)? I find a magnifying glass is necessary to distinguish between them. There must be some simple, less frustrating way. What am I doing wrong and what can be done to make it easy to tell them apart? — VIOLET

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with people who dial the wrong number and never respond when you answer. It would be most acceptable to say "I have the wrong number" or at least hang up at once. — MRS. J. E. C.

DEAR POLLY — We had the same problem as Mary L. with the aluminum ribbing around our kitchen table rubbing off on arms and clothes. We applied a good coat of an acrylic floor finish which worked fine. — L. M. L.

DEAR POLLY — Mary L. who wanted to know how to prevent the aluminum trim on her table from staining her arms could coat the aluminum with clear lacquer or clear nail polish and find either works fine. — BARB

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is so easy I wonder why I did not think of it before. My tall clear plastic cake cover has now doubled its use as it is just the right size to keep my stack of 150-200 paper plates neat and dust free. — ANNA MAE

DEAR POLLY — When making carpenter-style painting aprons for my two little boys I have to remember that they need something easy to put on. Instead of putting ties at the neck back (which they cannot tie) I sew elastic on. This makes it quick and easy for them to slip the aprons on over their heads. — KAY

DEAR GIRLS — The blotter pad on my waxed desk top skidded here and there when I used my typewriter until I put one-inch squares of thin foam along each side. Mrs. A. R. A. could also make ties for each back cover of her seat pads, tie them around the back of the frame and make a neat bow at each tie. The same could be done at the front corners if need be. — POLLY

More Than $800 Stolen In Break-Ins in Sedalia

Four break-ins in Sedalia Thursday and Friday netted thieves more than $800 in merchandise and cash.

Firearms and stereo tapes valued at $460.45 were taken from the Gary Tickamyer residence, 2614 North Woodlawn, between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 3 a.m. Thursday. Reported stolen were two 22 calibre rifles valued at $80, two .12 gauge shotguns valued at $90, a 22 calibre and a 25 calibre pistol valued at $100, a bolt action rifle valued at $20, a total of 22 stereo tapes valued at $130 and $40.45 worth of ammunition.

Police said entry was gained by opening a back window and unlocking a door. Tickamyer told police that a man who said he was taking a marriage survey came to the house about 8 p.m. Wednesday. The theft occurred while Tickamyer was at Bothwell Hospital, where his wife gave birth to a boy at 12:35 a.m. Thursday. Police searched for the man described by Tickamyer, but he was not taken into custody.

A Thursday night or Friday morning break-in at Bruno's Cafe, 420 South Osage, netted thieves $10 in change from a cash register and an undetermined amount of change from pinball and cigarette machines inside the cafe, police said.

Entry was gained by breaking a window on the south side of the building. Police reported a bushel basket also was taken.

Authorities found a screwdriver and a brown cotton glove, possibly left by the thieves in the cafe.

Miscellaneous tools valued at about $100 were taken between 5:30 p.m. and 6:55 a.m. Friday from Falir's Service Station, 520 South Lamine, police said.

Entry was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the building. William Flair, station owner, told The Democrat-Capital the tools were taken from the garage. No other merchandise or cash were stolen.

Six tires valued at $210, and $55 in cash, were taken from Dick's East Side Skelly, 1615 East Broadway, between 9 p.m. Thursday and 7:55 a.m. Friday, police said. The tires were taken from a rack in the garage, and a total of $10 was taken from a soft drink machine in the office and another $45 from the cash register, also in the office, police added.

Entry was gained by prying open a rear door on the north side of the building, according to a police report. Also listed as damaged were a door and ceiling tile at restrooms in the building.

Marty Thomas, 2215 South Vermont, reported the theft of a bicycle Wednesday. Police later Wednesday recovered the bicycle at 20th and Vermont. The tire and wheels had been removed, however, authorities said.

Starlings Are Added To Hunt List

The Sedalia Rod and Gun Club pigeon shoot, scheduled for Saturday morning in the downtown area, has been expanded to include a Saturday night starling shoot, it was announced Friday.

The decision was made to attack the starlings immediately after dusk because they will be easier prey at that time. During the morning, it was explained, the starlings flee after hearing the initial shots and are much harder to kill.

Police Chief William Miller Thursday said he was approached by a club representative who requested the police department to handle the Saturday evening event. Miller, however, declined, saying he didn't wish to establish a precedent for such things.

Although not participating in the shoot directly, the police department is cooperating in the venture by agreeing to waive certain ordinances forbidding the discharge of weapons and creating loud noises within the city limits.

According to Chief Miller, no personal injuries and only scattered reports of property damage were received from previous shoots.

"We've had some people try to tell us that their windshields were pelted but I didn't buy that," Miller said. According to Jim Hamilton, chairman of the Club's board of directors, "Only 6½ and 7 birdshot will be used. When that comes down, it won't even make a red mark on anybody."

Saturday's bird hunt is the latest in a series of attempts that have been made over the years to rid the downtown area of residue left by one of it's most faithful group of visitors.

Why is the hunt being resumed? "If you go down to the courthouse, you won't have to ask why," said Jim Cunningham, a Rod and Gun club member and former city councilman.

"They had the first pigeon shoot when Abe Silverman was mayor and I was on the council," Cunningham recalled. "It was really bad back then when some of the older buildings, which have since been torn down, were still up downtown. Now, however, the problem is still bad because it hasn't been dealt with in a while."

Eastern District Judge E.L. "Red" Birdsong said the county's effort to control pigeons and starlings has largely been unsuccessful.

"They put some stuff out on the ledges when they sandblasted the courthouse (eight years ago)," Birdsong said.

"However, the stuff looked like oil and didn't do much good." He added that some trees in the courthouse lawn were pruned in an effort to discourage roosting.

"You can't even open the windows in the summer it's so bad," said Pettis County Assessor Jerry Trotter, whose office window sills are coated with up to three inches of white dung.

While many persons working in the downtown area favor the upcoming shoot, Cunningham is also aware that the pigeons and starlings have their supporters as well.

"There'll be some people screaming," he predicted. "They think we're really doing something bad."

Trotter also had little sympathy for this point of view. "If they had that mess outside their window all the time, they'd think differently," he said. "Also," he added, "some of the pigeons die out there and then it really gets bad."

Besides leaving a smelly and unsightly mess, starlings and pigeons are often carriers of disease, according to Dr. R.E. Gouge, a veterinarian. "Starlings are particularly bad," he said. "All sorts of diseases can be carried by them."

Hostages

as she shouted in Hebrew, "I didn't know it was so good to be alive."

Premier Golda Meir and the Israeli government expressed "deep admiration and gratitude to the government of Thailand" for its handling of the matter. A Cabinet statement praised the Thai government for "active vigilance and supreme responsibility."

The four Arabs and the 36 terrorists whose release they sought were all members of Black September, the Palestinian organization responsible for the slaying of 11 Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics and the massacre at Israel's international airport last May. It is financed by the oil-rich Libyan government.

The four Arabs invaded the Israeli embassy Thursday while the King of Thailand's only son, Prince Vajiralongkorn, was being invested as crown prince at a ceremony in Parliament House. Two of the terrorists posed as diplomats returning from the ceremony in white tie and tails to get past the Thai guard at the embassy gate. The other two scaled the wall.

Armed with submachine guns and grenades, the four entered the embassy building and took the six Israelis inside as hostages. They included the visiting Israeli ambassador to Cambodia, Shimon Amior, and two women, but Ambassador Amir was attending the royal investiture. The Thai guard called the police; hundreds of troops and police surrounded the building, and the Arabs threw out a note containing their demands.

The Arabs were negotiating with Air Marshal Dawee Chulasapaya of the ruling Thai junta, Egyptian Ambassador Moustafa el Essawy and others.

During the night the terrorists agreed to release the hostages in exchange for safe conduct out of the country and everybody sat down to a chicken curry inside the embassy—the Arabs, the hostages, the Thai officials and the ambassador.

Hughes' Only Neighbor Moves Out

LONDON (AP) — Howard Hughes' only neighbor on the top floor of London's Inn on the Park checked out today saying he was fed up with all the security and having his pheasants filched.

Bernard Cowan, a Canadian businessman and his wife Hilda flew to Toronto after a short stay in the suite next to Hughes' $2,500-a-day quarters.

Cowan said living with a rich recluse wasn't easy. A brace of pheasants he shot and hung from the balcony of his suite mysteriously disappeared; he and his wife were escorted by security men every time they used the elevator. And there was constant banging as television cameras and other equipment to guard Hughes' privacy were installed.

About the birds, Cowan said he "suggested to the hotel manager they might have been cut down by security men who feared they were bombs or bugging devices. He didn't deny it."

The pheasants, shot during a weekend hunting trip, were eventually returned and Cowan had them stuffed as a memento.

Police Court

The following persons were charged with speeding: W.L. Keller, Collins, Mo., forfeited $20; Ricky Morris, Marshall, forfeited $13.

Richard E. Buck, Ft. Leonard Wood, leaving the scene of an accident, forfeited $75.

Walter G. Long, 1019 East Fourth, failure to yield to on-coming traffic, fined $10, fine stayed.

Jon L. Jackson, 315 North Quincy, running a red light, dismissed; speeding, fined $25.

Man Electrocuted In Green Ridge

(Democrat-Capital Service)

GREEN RIDGE — A New Bloomfield, Mo., man was electrocuted here late Thursday afternoon when a metal pipe he was lifting came into contact with an electric wire.

Melvin Hegerfeld, 22, was working on the roof of the Green Ridge High School shortly after 4:30 p.m. when the mishap occurred.

According to a spokesman for Missouri Builder's Service, Jefferson City, with whom Hegerfeld was employed, workers were in the process of dismantling a metal pipe used in pumping asphalt to the roof of the new gymnasium, presently under construction at the school.

Hegerfeld was lifting the pipe so a truck could be moved. The pipe touched the electrical wire and the resulting shock knocked Hegerfeld off of the roof. He fell 30 feet to the ground. He was rushed by a Green Ridge ambulance to Bothwell Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival by Pettis County Coroner Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher.

Appreciation Expressed By Trumans

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman's widow and daughter, "touched by the outpouring of sympathy and affection from citizens everywhere," have expressed their appreciation to those who joined them in mourning for the 33rd president.

In a statement made public after Truman was buried late Thursday in the courtyard of his presidential library, Bess Truman and her daughter, Margaret Daniel, said they were "impressed by both the dignity of the ceremonies and the warmth of the tribute paid to Mr. Truman."

The ceremonies of Wednesday and Thursday were solemn and simple. Thousands viewed Truman's casket as he lay in state before the funeral attended mostly by family and hometown friends.

The tributes will continue. A memorial service will be held Jan. 5 in Washington's National Cathedral for the Man from Independence who died Tuesday at 88. And the nation's flags, by President Nixon's order, will continue to fly at half staff for another 26 days.

Randall Jessee, the long-time friend who acted as the family spokesman through the days of Truman's final illness and burial, said the 87-year-old widow expects to continue making her home in the white frame house where the Trumans spent most of the 53 years of their marriage. The home is about a half mile from Truman's gravesite.

Mrs. Truman's widowed sister-in-law, May Wallace, lives nearby.

Jessee told newsmen he was deeply moved by Mrs. Truman's composure as she sat before her husband's casket during Thursday's final rites.

"Anyone who watched her face couldn't help but admire her," he said.

Seated beside Margaret, hatless and in a simple black coat, Bess watched almost motionless as the final honors were performed over the brown mahogany casket.

At one point she reached for a handkerchief and her daughter helped remove it from a pocket. But Jessee, standing not far away, said he had seen no tears.

Margaret, too, put a hand to her face once or twice, but she maintained a composure that matched her mother's.

Appearance In Court Not Made

Four Sedalia women who were arrested earlier in the month on charges of solicitation for prostitution failed to appear for their trial Friday in Sedalia police court. Lawrence England, police court judge, ordered their $50 bonds forfeited.

Scheduled to appear were Ida Murphy, 24, 206 West Jefferson; Barbara Johnson, 32, 802 North Missouri; Karren Trammell, 22, 804 North Missouri; and Arletha Delores Frazier, 29, 212 East St. Louis.

The four were arrested Dec. 20 by Sedalia police after they allegedly propositioned a police officer Dec. 16 at a lot at St. Louis and Mill, police said.

The women had each previously posted $50 bonds to insure their court appearances.

Denies Knowledge Of Profits

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — A Miami attorney representing President Nixon said today he "couldn't verify one way or the other" a report that Nixon made $100,000 profit on the sale of two canal-front lots near his Florida home.

Thomas H. Wakefield, a lawyer who has represented Nixon in previous land dealings on the booming tropical island, said the sale price was $150,000.

The Miami Herald reported in today's editions that Nixon bought the property in 1967 and 1971, paying $30,000 for one piece and $23,100 for a second.

Wakefield said he had "no way of knowing" if the Herald figures, based on calculations of documentary tax stamps, was accurate.

In Washington, there was no immediate comment from the White House.

Wakefield said the property was sold to Yonkers, N.Y., attorney William E. Griffin Jr., a personal acquaintance of the President's.

Griffin reportedly has been considering building a home on the land located near the entrance to Cape Florida State Park. Nixon's closely guarded villa is about 12 blocks to the northwest.

Griffin said he was undecided what to do with the property, adding, "We may build a permanent residence there."

Wakefield and Nixon's close friend, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, witnessed sale papers. Wakefield said were signed by the President "sometime last week."

The attorney filed the sales document in Dade County Circuit Court Thursday making the transaction final.

Nixon bought the two parcels of land from a company headed by Donald Berg, a developer who built homes in the Cape Florida section of the island, the Herald reported.

Wakefield said he represented Nixon when the President several years ago bought the bayfront compound which he often visits. Records show Nixon bought the home Dec. 19, 1968, for $100,000 on a 25-year mortgage.

The island has undergone a building boom in recent years with a number of large condominiums and new homes being constructed.

Cable TV Fee Is Put Before Court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Can a cable TV outfit charge its Jefferson City customers extra to see St. Louis Blues hockey games?

That question was raised in Cole County Circuit Court Thursday by the Missouri Broadcasters Association. It challenged the action of International Telemeter Corp. in setting up a plan for its Jefferson City customers to pay extra to see the games.

The first game was telecast Dec. 20 on a special service channel after the customers paid $2.50 for each of 12 games, plus a $3 installation charge and a $20 deposit on the converter attached to their sets.

Donald Moeller, general manager of KYTV of Springfield and president of the 141-member broadcasters association, said the plan was a clear violation of the Jefferson City ordinance granting International Telemeter a franchise but barring it from adding any pay TV system.

He said the practice "sets a dangerous precedent. Ultimately, cable television could control all broadcasting of a certain team, making the games available only to those who can afford an extra charge, with the games not being available on free commercial television and radio."

Dan Healey, general manager of International Telemeter, said "We did our legal homework quite some time ago. We obviously felt confident we were well within our rights." He called the hockey programs "a field market test of a particular situation."

He said the hockey games do not replace any normal channel TV reception.

Healey said he thought it was interesting that the broadcasters brought the suit instead of the city.

No date for a hearing has been set.

Ann Landers

Potency Statistic Upsets Teen's Dad

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to teen-agers to stay OFF beds, lest they end up IN them was good. But why did you have to say that the peak of male potency is at age 17? You made it sound like anybody who has passed his 20th birthday is over the hill.

Our 16-year-old son has talked about little else ever since that column appeared. Last night he jokingly asked me if I had applied for lodging in the old folks home. And then he added, "I hope you don't go into a depression next year, Dad, when I reach my sexual peak and you are 25 years beyond yours."

I pretended not to hear that cheap crack, but it bothered me plenty. If you can think of a good answer for this smart-mouth kid of mine, I'd appreciate it. — Indignant In Indiana

Dear Indig: Your smart-mouth kid doesn't deserve an answer. He deserves to be ignored. That statistic refers to sexual potency (Kinsey Report) but there are plenty of other factors that might make a 42-year-old man more desirable sexually than a 17-year-old boy. For example, maturity and experience.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a 16-year-old daughter who is causing me a lot of grief. It isn't that she is wild or hard to get along with. It's a quiet, undercurrent feeling — something I can't explain. I never know what she is thinking — or doing. For example, I am almost sure she shoplifted a dress. All indications point to it.

To begin with, she lied about how much she paid for it. When I saw the dress I knew it cost at least three times what she said. What's more, she didn't have even the amount she said she had paid for it. When I asked her for a receipt she said she lost it. She couldn't remember what happened to the price tag. Should I come right and ask her if she stole the dress? Or should I keep my eye on her for evidence of future thefts? — Sleepless Nights in Wisconsin

Dear S.N.: I agree that all signs point to shoplifting, but there's one chance in a hundred she did NOT steal the dress and you dare not take that chance.

Keep your eyes open and if you see anything else that looks like a shoplifted item, sit down with your daughter and insist that she produce evidence that the item was purchased. If she is unable to prove it, ask her to take you to the store and verify her statement. If she then confesses, you must insist that she return the item in your presence.

Dear Ann Landers: You did it again — another stupid answer to the woman who wanted to know what to do about a minister whose car was parked in the widow's driveway every other day even though her husband has been dead over a year. Your pet answer seems to be "Mind your own business." You sound like a broken record.

To begin with, if the minister is kanoodlin' around the congregation has the right to sack him. We had one of those high-flyers a few years back and by the time we caught up with his shenanigans he had so much of the church's money in his own account that we almost lost our building.

So please don't be telling people that unless they can prove anything they should keep quiet. By the time they can prove it, it's too late. — N.N.N.C.

Dear N.: The advice stands.

Income Tax Forms Too Heavy for Jacks

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The tax burden in Arizona is too heavy to bear—literally.

A spokesman for the Arizona Tax Commission said Thursday the jacks collapsed Wednesday under a large van which had been loaded with more than 500,000 state income tax forms.

It took two oversized wreckers to lift the over-taxed forward end of the van high enough to allow a large tractor-truck to hook up to it, the spokesman said.

Eagleton Affair Top State Story

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Thomas Eagleton Affair—vice presidential nomination, shock treatment disclosure, drunken driving charges, ejection from the national ticket—was the top Missouri story of 1972, according to a poll of state newspapermen and broadcasters.

The polling was complete before the death of former President Harry S. Truman.

It drew five more first place votes than the state's No. 2 story—the Republicanization of Missouri represented by the election of Christopher Bond as governor. He is the first Republican elected to the office in three decades.

Third in the voting was two periods of hospitalization of former President Truman, climaxed by his death Dec. 26.

The Eagleton story was a high pitch of excitement for Missourians and the newspapers and radio stations that serve them. Two days after being selected by Sen. George McGovern on July 13, Eagleton had arrived in Kansas City to open what was to prove an abbreviated campaign as vice presidential candidate.

"When I began my political career," he told a newsman, not realizing the prophecy of his words, "my ultimate aim—the most I felt I could conceivably accomplish—was to become a U.S. senator."

One week later—after the news conference in South Dakota with McGovern when he revealed his shock treatments for depression and a trip to Hawaii—Eagleton suddenly was concerned once again with being re-elected senator.

Rounding out the top 10 stories in the poll were:

No. 4—Prostitution activities in the Ft. Leonard Wood area brought to attention by four fatal shootings and a bombing, and the subsequent indictments issued by a federal grand jury in Kansas City; No. 5—The Missouri Supreme Court decision in favor of Bond, whose eligibility as a gubernatorial candidate had been challenged in a residency suit; No. 6—June 23 hijacking at St. Louis in which the plane was ordered back to St. Louis where the hijacker demanded $500,000 ransom—later found in Indiana;

No. 7—The explosion death in Branson of Louis D. Shoulders Jr., St. Louis Laborers Union official; No. 8—The Missouri primaries and the emergency of Edward Dowd and Bond as Democratic and GOP gubernatorial candidates; No. 9—The killing spree in Harrisonville of Charles Simpson, 25, who slayed three persons—including two police officers—wounded three others, then killed himself; No. 10—The murder in Conception of four members of one family and charges against a 15-year-old schoolmate of one of the victims.

Missouri vs. Oklahoma

Two Undefeated Teams Clash

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Something has to give tonight when seventh-ranked Missouri battles 19th-ranked Oklahoma in one semifinal game of the Big Eight Conference preseason basketball tournament.

Both clubs are undefeated. It's only the second time in the tournament's history that a pair of unbeaten teams have gone after each other.

The Tigers are 9-0. Oklahoma ran its record to 7-0 Thursday night by spanking Oklahoma State 69-62 in overtime.

Tonight's other semifinal scrap matches 16th-ranked Kansas State, a 91-70 Thursday night victor over Kansas, and Iowa State. Kansas State is 8-1 and the Cyclones 7-1.

Missouri advanced to the semifinals by routing Colorado 98-78 Wednesday night, and Iowa State downed Nebraska 75-64.

In a pair of loser's bracket games this afternoon, Oklahoma State, 2-7, met Colorado, 3-4, and Kansas, 4-5, faced Nebraska, 3-5.

Missouri's 63.4 per cent field goal shooting average against Colorado lifted a lot of eyebrows, and Coach Norm Stewart hopes the Tigers continue their hot firing.

"If we do," Stewart says, "it will make my job much easier."

The Oklahoma Sooners got a seven-point performance out of Tom Holland in the overtime period against the Cowboys, who had broken the regulation 54-54 stalemate by jumping out front with four points on free throws by Kevin Fitzgerald and a two-pointer by Tom Duckett.

Ted Evans sank a 14-footer for Oklahoma, and teammates Holland and Bob Pritchard dumped in quick baskets to give the Sooners the lead. Ralph Rasmuson tied it for the Cowboys with a 10-footer but that was the end for Oklahoma State.

Holland's three-point play put Oklahoma ahead for good. Freshman Alvan Adams of the Sooners and Fitzgerald each made 22 points to tie for scoring honors.

Sooner Coach John MacLeod said "the 30-second clock definately influenced the game. It's the first time the clock has influenced one of our games. I'm sure Sam Aubrey (Cowboy coach) would have gone into the delay after they got the lead in the overtime, and we probably would have, too, after we got ahead.

"I told our kids it was do or die in the last three minutes of the overtime."

Aubrey said he "thought our kids played well. It was their fast break that killed us."

Kansas State's Steve Mitchell and Larry Williams and long shots by Danny Beard were too much for Kansas although the Jayhawks made a good game of it several minutes into the second half.

After Kansas led much of the first half and tied it early in the second half, the Wildcats broke loose.

Beard's 20-footer put Kansas State out in front for keeps. Mitchell scored 21 points and Williams 19. Rick Suttle of Kansas grabbed point making honors with 22.

"We began the game tensely but settled down in the second half," said Wildcat Coach Jack Hartman. "We made some little adjustments at halftime. One was to get the ball inside a little more to Mitchell."

Hartman said he was "happy to be playing Friday night. Iowa State has a fine team, and I know Maury John (the Cyclone coach) wasn't happy with their play against Nebraska."

Kansas Coach Ted Owens admitted the Jayhawks' "defense wasn't very good. The first 15 minutes of the game we looked like a pretty good basketball team."

"This was the first time we have played against a zone this year, and it might have bothered us some but I thought we got some pretty good shots against it."

S-C Over Central Of Springfield

SPRINGFIELD — Sparked by good field shooting and control of the boards, the Smith-Cotton Tigers downed Springfield Central 78-63 Thursday night to remain alive in the loser's bracket of the Glendale Holiday Tournament.

The Tigers hit 57 per cent of their field goal attempts in both halves and collected 40 rebounds to Central's 27. They led at the end of every quarter.

Coach Jim Dinsdale said, "We played a better ball game and have been continuing to improve with each game." He pointed out the better field goal and free throw percentages as evidence. In past games S-C has shot about 30 per cent from the floor.

The Tigers placed four men in double figures, led by senior center Kim Anderson's game high 22 points. Kent Sellers, who has had tendon problems in his leg, added to the Tiger offense by tossing in 16.

The backcourt contributed 15 points from Marvin Spruell and 13 from Mike Best.

Lyndall Magers led Central with 19 points.

Anderson and Jim Sanders controlled the boards, pulling down 16 and 12 rebounds respectively. That was one more than Central's entire squad collected.

Smith-Cotton led at the end of the first quarter 24-14 and stayed in control the rest of the way. Central fought the Tigers on even terms in the second stanza, but S-C took a 10 point halftime lead into the dressing room, 40-30.

The Tigers increased their lead to 15 points, at the end of three quarters, 57-42. Both clubs tallied 21 points in the final period.

With the win, S-C's record now stands at 5-3 for the season. Their next contest in the tourney will be at 6 p.m. Friday against the winner of the Raytown South-Warrensburg game for consolation honors.

S-C is seeded fifth in the eight-team affair. Springfield Central, seeded first, dropped from the tourney with their second straight loss.

Scoring

Smith-Cotton (78) —	Jim Sanders 3-0-2; Keith Crowder 1-2-2; Kent Sellers 7-2-1; Kim Anderson 9-4-4; Jeff Schnakenberg 1-0-1; Mike Best 6-1-3; Marvin Spruell 7-1-3; Jim Campbell 0-0-2. Totals: 34-10-18.
Central (63) —	Terry Culp 4-1-2; Jerome Murphy 3-2-2; William Martin 1-1-0; Mark Lee 1-0-0; Lyndall Magers 9-1-4; Joe Johnson 6-0-1; Kevin Johsson 4-2-5. Totals: 28-7-12.

Narrow Win Over Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore's first place position in the National Basketball Association's Central Division balanced precariously on the rim of the basket twice in the final moments of the Bullets' game against second place Atlanta Thursday night.

Both times, the ball fell without going through the hoop and Baltimore hung on for a 112-111 victory over the second place Hawks to move 1½ games ahead of Atlanta.

Elsewhere in the NBA Thursday, New York walloped Buffalo 107-86, Milwaukee slugged Detroit 115-91 and Golden State ripped Cleveland 118-105.

In the American Basketball Association, Virginia whipped Dallas 124-117, Carolina defeated Indiana 120-106 and Utah belted the New York Nets 128-90.

The Hawks pulled to within one point of the Bullets at 110-109 with 18 seconds left on a basket by Lou Hudson, who had 26 points. Then Pete Maravich stole the ball for Atlanta.

First Maravich and then Hudson both missed short jump shots that would have put Atlanta ahead. Baltimore finally grabbed a rebound and Phil Chenier dropped in a layup with four seconds left for the deciding points.

Mike Riordan led the Bullets with 26 points while Chenier, Wes Unseld and Flynn Robinson added 20 apiece. Herm Gilliam had 23 and Maravich 19 for the Hawks.

New York hit on 17 of 25 first period shots and rolled to a 37-13 bulge over Buffalo. It was the 20th home court victory in 21 starts for the Knicks.

Earl Monroe and Willis Reed led the first period surge with 10 points each. Monroe finished with 16.

A wild weekend of bowling—football style—gets underway tonight with two post-season college classics.

The Peach Bowl at Atlanta, Ga., matches 18th-ranked West Virginia against North Carolina State. Meanwhile, at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., Kent State faces Tampa.

There are four games Saturday, including the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco. North Carolina, ranked No. 16, plays Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. In the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., No. 6 Auburn goes up against Colorado, ranked 13th, and the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston has No. 11 Tennessee facing No. 10 Louisiana State.

The weekend winds up with the Big Four bowls—the best-known of the post-season action. That starts Sunday night with second-ranked Oklahoma meeting No. 5 Penn State in the New Year's Eve Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans. On New Year's Day, Monday, the Cotton Bowl at Dallas matches No. 4 Alabama and seventh-rated Texas, while top-ranked Southern California collides with No. 3 Ohio State in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., and Nebraska, No. 9, meets No. 12 Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Defense was the item that most concerned the four coaches as they completed preparations for tonight's two games.

"Whoever does the best job of stopping the other will be the winner," said Lou Holtz, coach of North Carolina State, as the Wolfpack, 7-3-1, readied to meet West Virginia in the Peach Bowl.

Both teams compiled impressive offensive records during the regular season with West Virginia slightly ahead statistically. The Mountaineers, 8-3, averaged 36.5 points per game and gained an average of 411 yards with quarterback Bernie Galiffa at the controls. Galiffa passed for 16 touchdowns and 2,312 yards during the regular season and ranked fifth in the nation in total offense with 227.8 yards per game.

North Carolina State averaged 432 yards and 32.7 points per game but two of the Wolfpack's key performers, quarterback Bruce Shaw and running back Stan Fritts, were nursing injuries and were listed as doubtful starters. Shaw passed for 1,708 yards and nine touchdowns while Fritts ran for 689 yards and 17 TDs.

Don James, Kent State's coach, figured his 6-4-1 team would need a superior effort to knock off 9-2 Tampa in the Tangerine Bowl. "Flawless football" was what James thought Kent State would require.

Texas Tech, readying for Saturday's Sun Bowl clash with 16th ranked North Carolina, figures there will be some heavy hitting in that encounter.

Tech, unranked in the last Associated Press poll, could crack the Top Twenty by knocking off the Tar Heels. Another game that should have a direct bearing on the rankings is the Astro-Bluebonnet showdown Saturday night. Tennessee, ranked 11th with a 9-2 record going in, faces the team directly ahead of it in the poll, No. 10 Louisiana State with a 9-1-1 season log.

Bad Taping Job

Texas Head Coach Darrell Royal checks the ankle of his leading ground-gainer, Roosevelt Leaks, thinking he might have injured it. # Redskins Prepared

WASHINGTON (AP) — "If you do the right things on defense, anybody can be playing quarterback and it won't matter." Washington coach George Allen said.

Allen said Thursday he believed his Redskins would be facing Craig Morton Sunday in the game to decide the National Conference's entry into Super Bowl VII—but he figured wrong.

A few hours after the Redskins finished their closed workout, the Dallas Cowboys announced they would go with quarterback Roger Staubach in the game at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

The fact that Staubach, more of a threat to run, would start

Pepsi Scores Fifth Win Of Season

Sedalia Pepsi recorded its fifth win of the year at Cole Camp Thursday night, downing their host 138-99.

Playing under a new name, the former Sedalia Red Hots jumped in front of Cole Camp in the first quarter and led 25-20 at the end of the period. The game was never in doubt as Pepsi pushed its lead to 67-40 at half-time.

Cole Camp clipped four points off the lead during the third quarter outscoring Pepsi 32-28. The visitors, however, wanted it no closer and responded with a 43-point final quarter that assured the win.

Pepsi's Roger Pickard was the game's high scorer with 37 points. Jim Houchen and Mel Garrett added 24 each. Walter Heisterberg led Cole Camp with 21.

Pepsi will take their 5-1 slate against the Sedalia Travelers Tuesday night at the Sedalia junior high gym.

in place of Morton, prone to stay in the pocket, didn't concern the Redskins' coach.

"We are not preparing differently for either of them," Allen said.

Allen, who sprung a five-man front line on Green Bay to negate the Packer's running game, also said he didn't expect any surprises from the Dallas defense.

"We've played them twice this year and we pretty much know what they've got," he said. "It's just a matter of dealing with it."

Washington defensive tackle Bill Brundige didn't share his coach's lack of concern over Staubach's selection.

"I'd rather be facing Morton, Brundige said. "Staubach's more of a scrambler and I just don't like to run too much. We have to play more spread out to try and contain him. And we really can't use that five-man line as effectively against him."

Morton, who took over Dallas' signal calling when Staubach suffered a preseason injury, directed the Cowboys to a 10-4 record, one game back of Washington in the East Division, and into the playoffs with the NFC's wildcard berth.

But it was Staubach who got Dallas past San Francisco and into Sunday's game. He replaced Morton in the fourth quarter last Saturday and, trailing by 16 points, brought the Cowboys within range of a Toni Fritsch field goal, then passed for two touchdowns to beat the 49ers, 30-28.

"You can't go into a game thinking 'we've got to prevent the pass' or 'we've got to stop the run,'" Allen said, "or you're going to get burned."

"It's like a batter who goes up to the plate worrying about the knuckle ball. He watches three fast balls go by for strikes and goes back to the dugout still waiting for the knuckler."

Staubach Is In

Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach (12) hands off to fullback Walt Garrison (32) during Cowboys workout. Coach Tom Landry, moved by a game-saving performance that kept

Dallas' Super Bowl hopes alive last week, announced that Staubach will start at quarterback for the Cowboys against the Washington Redskins in the NFC championship game. (UPI)

And Powers LaSalle

'Skyman' Gains Fame

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Skyman is the latest colorful personality to gain national prominence in college basketball.

The Skyman is the nickname for Jim Crawford, 6-foot-5 senior co-captain for the LaSalle College Explorers of Philadelphia.

Crawford, who gained his nickname because of extraordinary leaping ability, was LaSalle's most valuable player last season but his prowess was little noted because of LaSalle's dismal 6-19 won-lost record.

That picture was changed Thursday night as Crawford threw in a career high of 30 points to lead LaSalle to a 76-70 victory over New Mexico State in the semifinals of the Quaker City Classic. The victory, on the heels of LaSalle's 77-72 first round victory over Southern California Wednesday, was the Explorers' seventh against two defeats.

"That's as well as I've ever played," commented the usually taciturn Crawford who grabbed 10 rebounds and made 11 straight shots in getting his 30 points.

LaSalle now goes against its city rival, St. Joseph's, in the Quaker City final Saturday. The Hawks advanced by beating Duquesne 76-71.

St. John's of New York and South Carolina, on the comeback trail like LaSalle, gained the Saturday afternoon final of the Holiday Festival in New York. St. John's upset Michigan 85-83 on Bill Schaeffer's last second jump shot and the Gamecocks whipped Manhattan 79-69 as 7-foot Danny Traylor put on an awesome first half show of 21 points, 11 rebounds and five blocked shots.

None of the Top Ten in the Associated Press rankings saw action but No. 15 Indiana edged No. 13 Houston 75-72 in the Sun Bowl. No. 12 Florida State tripped Penn State 70-60 and No. 14 Brigham Young shaded Texas A&M 83-81 in the All-College.

In the Big Eight, No. 16 Kansas State tripped Kansas 91-70 and No. 19 Oklahoma went overtime to down Oklahoma State 69-62.

Oklahoma State threw a scarce into unbeaten Oklahoma, but went down as Tom Holland scored seven points in the overtime that erased a four-point lead by the Aggies.

"I think the 30-second clock definitely influenced the game," said Sooner Coach John MacLeod. "Otherwise I'm sure they would have gone to a delay game after they got the lead in the OT."

Elsewhere Nevada-Las Vegas won the Vegas Holiday by beating Arizona 65-64 on Bob Florence's last second basket and East Tennessee took the Tangerine Bowl, 80-58 over Stetson.

National champion UCLA goes for its 52nd straight victory tonight against Drake in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Bradshaw Is Sure Of Win Over Miami

PITTSBURGH (AP) —

"We'll beat the Miami Dolphins," Terry Bradshaw said, a glucose tube dangling from his left arm at Divine Providence Hospital.

"Miami's a heck of a team, but there's no reason they should beat the Pittsburgh Steelers."

That kind of confidence abounds in Pittsburgh and Steeler players already talk of their trip to the Super Bowl. The Dolphins' 15-0 record seems to scare nobody.

With Bradshaw, the Pittsburgh quarterback, there's nothing but victorious thoughts even though he was flattened temporarily Thursday by a 24-hour virus.

"I'll be ready by game time, you can bet on it," he said. "I'll rest and get stronger here in the hospital and will have a lot of time to think about Miami."

The Dolphins, champions of the Eastern Division, meet Central Division king Pittsburgh Sunday for the American Football Conference title at Three Rivers Stadium.

Miami's squad flies into town today for final preparations before the two National Football League powers fight it out for a spot in Super Bowl VII.

"I'll tell you about Miami's defense," said Bradshaw, adjusting his huge eyeglasses. "They're terribly quick. But, I'm sure we can move the ball ... and put some points on the board."

Pretty, brown-haired Melissa Bradshaw was again beginning to share her quarterback husband's confidence. It had been a rough day, though.

"I've never seen anybody as sick as Terry was at 3 o'clock in the morning," she said. "I was terrified."

Bradshaw said he "spent the whole night in the bathroom, sicker than a dog." Then, at 5 a.m., Melissa called the Steelers' trainer.

Terry was in the hospital by noon.

"I'm not missing a thing," he said, adjusting the I.V. jug that swayed above his head. "Wednesday was O-Day (offense) and I got in all my work. Thursday is D-Day (defense) and they didn't need me, anyway."

Three years ago, Bradshaw was drafted No. 1 out of Louisiana Tech and received a bruising introduction to pro football on a 1-13 Steeler team.

"I'll tell you, from 1-13 to 12-3 is a glorious feeling," he said. "But, we're not stopping now. Miami's good, but we'll beat 'em."

Indiana Has Some Bad Nights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's tough going for the champion Indiana Pacers in the American Basketball Association these nights.

They suffered their fifth straight loss Thursday night as they fell before the Carolina Cougars 120-106 and dropped three games behind the first place Utah Stars in the ABA West.

The Stars enjoyed a 128-90 romp over the New York Nets as Glen Combs and Willie Wise combined for 50 points. The Virginia Squires beat the Dallas Chaparrals 124-117 in the other ABA game scheduled.

Milwaukee whipped Detroit 115-91, Baltimore edged Atlanta 112-111, the New York Knicks trampled Buffalo 107-86 and Golden State took Cleveland 118-105 in the National Basketball Association.

The Cougars, on top in the ABA East, were led by Billy Cunningham's 32 points as they overcame the Pacers for their fifth in a row. George McGinnis was high for the Pacers with 24.

Combs tossed in 26 points and Wise 24 as they led the Stars over the Nets. George Carter, the Nets' leading scorer, was ejected in the first quarter after two technical fouls were called against him. "They obviously missed Carter," said LaDell Andersen coach of the Stars. Brian Taylor topped the Nets with 20.

Julius Erving scored 32 points, 17 of them in the third period, to lead the Squires over the Chaps. Rich Jones and Joe Hamilton each scored 21 to pace the Chaps who cut Virginia's 20-point lead to seven in the last five minutes.

We'll let him describe what he did in his own words.

'Quake Caught Hughes in Hotel

By JOHN PLATERO
Associated Press Writer

MANAGUA (AP) — The earthquake that devastated Nicaragua's capital early last Saturday morning caught Howard Hughes in his tightly guarded half of the seventh floor of the Intercontinental Hotel, where the billionaire recluse had been holed up since August.

The pyramid-shaped hotel cracked, and the ninth floor moved to one side and tilted. The power went out throughout the city and Hughes, who reportedly has a fear of death by natural disaster, had to descend a darkened stairway to leave the building.

His aides put him in a rented car and drove him about a mile to the home of Gen. Anastasio Somoza, Nicaragua's strong man and a close friend.

Somoza said Hughes' prime concern was to leave the country; that he offered no assistance in the earthquake emergency.

"He was fairly disturbed," said the general. "He's used to living in places where they don't have earthquakes."

Somoza checked with the airport and was told the runway appeared undamaged. So Hughes left and apparently was driven directly to his Lear jet parked there, but the plane did not leave immediately.

The speculation is that Hughes waited until he saw other aircraft take off safely.

About 9:30 a.m., Maurice Parga, the rental car agent, drove to his office near the Intercontinental to check on his vehicles. He went on to the hotel and offered to take guests standing outside to his home.

When Parga said he was a ham radio operator and had a station, one of Hughes' men asked to accompany him in order to send a radio message to the United States.

Parga said he tried to broadcast, but his equipment broke down. He mentioned that another ham operator, William Criswell, lived three blocks away.

It was 10:30 a.m. when Hughes' employee went to Criswell's home and asked if he could send a message to the States. Criswell already had been on the air making appeals for help.

"I don't recall his name," said Criswell, "and I just couldn't keep a log, but I remember a cryptic message I sent to a Florida Ham."

"The message more or less went like this:

"We're okay, leaving on Lear jet. Destroy all records and X-ray. Proceed immediately to Miami. When arrive in Miami, call 31 Los Angeles for ultimate destination."

No one knew Hughes' destination, but it was said his jet left early Saturday afternoon. The Miami Herald reported he landed at Fort Lauderdale, and early Wednesday he arrived in London.

European Method May Be Used in U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A method of delivering babies widely used in Europe could eliminate the need for anesthesia and reduce the risk of injury to babies and mothers, a hospital study discloses.

Dr. Richard H. Paul said Thursday that a recently completed study at the County-USC Women's Hospital here indicates that use of a vacuum extractor may be preferable to forceps in some deliveries.

The extractor includes a cup that is placed on the baby's head while still in the birth canal. Air is removed from the cup to create pressure.

Car 'Bug' Bite You?—Bite It Back!!

By ROBERT COCHNAR

NEW YORK — (NEA) — There's an old story about a passenger on an overnight train who complained bitterly to the president of the railroad after spending the night in the company of bedbugs.

By return mail the irked complainer received an apologetic letter which expressed the railroad's sincere horror and noted that the bedbug incident was unique.

Mollified, the passenger was about to dispose of the envelope when a small slip of paper fluttered out. The slip, which was obviously not intended for the passenger but for the president's secretary, read:

"Send this jerk the bedbug letter."

The nation's automobile manufacturers insist they do not send "bedbug letters" to complaining customers but that every complaint is handled promptly and individually. Since all companies have recently gone to considerable lengths to help angry customers, satisfaction should be guaranteed.

This new industry stance may come as a surprise to many car owners who may have become accustomed to stony silence from Detroit and something less than rapt attention at their dealer's service facility.

None of that sort of thing any more, the automakers say, and their advertising campaigns do seem to confirm that the customer may sometimes be right.

Ford Motor has announced that its corporate goal is "no unhappy owners" and has elevated its customer service operation to industry level to make sure the goal is reached.

Chrysler has "your man in Detroit," a kind of ombudsman whose mission is to cut through red tape and satisfy the customer.

American Motors has a new "buyer protection plan" which offers a hotline to Detroit, loaner cars to customers whose cars break down and, for $149, a two-year "insurance package" which pays for virtually all service and repair bills, including oil.

AMC also has a "trip interruption" plan which pays your room and board if your car breaks down 100 miles or more away from your home.

General Motors has been hitting the "we really care" button of late, although its complaint apparatus seems not so structured as the other companies. GM's is the more conventional dealer-to-zone-to-division system, which may be equally effective — or ineffective.

Philip E. Benton Jr. is vice-president and general manager of the Ford Customer Service Division, which is about a year old. He claims that "Ford probably has the best complaint handling system in the business." It features computers and the assurance that customers will be contacted about their complaints "within 48 hours."

The biggest single complaint, Benton says (and spokesmen at GM, AMC, Chrysler and Volkswagen agree) is "when we don't get the car fixed right the first time and the customer has to bring it back in."

This situation is more the result of a communications problem between the customer and the service representative rather than incompetent mechanics, although the lack of skilled technicians remains a sore spot in the industry.

"Sometimes the service adviser can't relay specific information to the mechanic because the owner isn't able to explain what's wrong," says Benton. "There's a thump under the hood" just isn't very specific."

Then, too, today's cars are considerably more complicated than they were 10 years ago. A lot more can go wrong, and frequently does. It is still a source of constant wonder to many that automobiles function as well as they do, considering the lack of owner maintenance most of them get.

Although recent advertising campaigns which practically solicit complaints are doing their job (Ford has received 100,000 in 1972 to date), complaints per 1,000 cars in service are actually lower than they were six years ago, ranging from two per 1,000 (Volkswagen) to about seven per 1,000 (GM).

A current major complaint industrywide is what Ford's Benton calls the "drivability, performance and fuel economy" category. And this, the industry contends, is the result of emission control systems. "New cars seem to get out of whack easier," reports Benton. "The car driven out of the showroom is likely to be different 500 to 1,000 miles later. We call that the 'green engine phenomenon' and it's traceable to emission control devices."

Finally, there are the various recall campaigns which tend, at the very least, to make owners question the ability of manufacturers to produce trouble-free vehicles. The campaigns also cause an overload in the dealers' service areas.

"Sure, it's a problem," Benton admits. "It's quite possible for an owner to receive three, even four, recall notices for his car. That does not make him happy."

Ford's new campaign, you'll recall, is "No Unhappy Owners." Phil Benton and his colleagues at the other companies have their work cut out for them.

Although the various automakers have somewhat different complaint systems, they all suggest that the complaint should first be registered with the dealer from whom you purchased the car. Give the dealer enough time to make necessary repairs before moving to the next step.

Fourth Decline In Beef Prices

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail beef prices declined in November for the fourth straight month, but increased markups by middlemen kept prices from falling even more, the Agriculture Department reported Friday.

One analyst warned that beef prices could start increasing again because prices for live cattle jumped sharply late in the month.

The Agriculture Department's monthly "market basket" report showed that the average retail price for all beef was $1.123-10 per pound in November, a decline of one-half cent from October and five cents below the record high prices of July.

The "farm value" of beef declined 11.9 cents since July to its lowest point in nearly two years and 5.1 per cent below the farm value a year earlier.

But the department said the middleman charges in the same period rose 5.9 cents and were up by 26.6 per cent from a year earlier.

According to the analysis, if middlemen had passed along the entire decline in the farm value of beef, the price decline to the consumer would have more than doubled.

The department said total middleman charges in November averaged a record 45.7 cents per pound, which was the difference between the amount the consumer paid and the farmer's share of the super-market price.

The so-called farm value last month was 66.6 cents, the lowest since January, 1971, when it was 60.4 cents. That is not the price farmers get for live cattle because it takes nearly 2.3 pounds of steer on the hoof to make one pound of super-market beef. It is, however, the cattle producer's share of what housewives spend on a pound of beef.

The USDA report supplemented one issued last week by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which said retail beef prices for "selected cuts" rose slightly in November.

But the USDA statistics are gathered over the entire month while the BLS uses retail information collected during the first week of each month.

Neither report, however, took into consideration the increases in live cattle prices since mid-

November because it takes several weeks before changes in the animal market are fully felt in the consumer pipeline.

At one time last month, according to USDA, live cattle prices at the important Midwest markets were averaging about $32 per 100 pounds live-weight.

Since the brief downturn, markets have climbed steadily. Choice-grade steers at Omaha, Neb., recently were bringing close to the $40 peaks of last summer.

A big question now is whether middlemen will use their record-wide margins to absorb the higher costs of cattle and carcass beef or increase their charges to maintain the spreads, according to one analyst.

"One thing certain," he said, "if the cattle market holds the way it is we'll be seeing beef go up in the next report."

Changes In Duties Are Proposed

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A former consultant to a presidential commission today proposed that police be freed from dealing with prostitution, gambling and marijuana possession so officers can concentrate on fighting violent crimes.

Dr. Amitai Etzioni, a Columbia University sociologist, said prostitutes, gamblers and marijuana possessors have no victims, but surveillance of them "costs us about half of our police resources."

Etzioni, a consultant to the President's Commission on the Prevention of Violence during the Eisenhower administration, offered his proposals at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Etzioni told a news conference that perpetrators of victimless crimes, such as prostitutes, gamblers, marijuana possessors and drunks, should be the responsibility of the medical profession and social workers—not the police.

He said freeing police from dealing with prostitution, gambling and marijuana possession and three other proposals could reduce crime in the nation by 60 per cent in the next 12 months. The other three proposals:

—Relieve police officers of the responsibility of removing pedestrian drunks from the streets but still leave them responsible for removing drunken drivers from the highways.

—Outlaw all handgun with the exception of sporting arms for hunters, inoperative weapons for gun collectors, and target guns for members of the National Rifle Association who store and use their weapons only at NRA facilities.

Newsman Remains In Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Newsman William Farr, spending his 32nd day in jail today, has been behind bars longer than any other American reporter imprisoned for refusing to reveal news sources, his defense attorneys said.

A committee spokesman who made the announcement Thursday said the longest such sentence served by any other newsman was 30 days.

Farr, 38, was given an indeterminate sentence last Nov. 27 by Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older who presided at the Charles Manson murder trial. Older wants Farr to identify the sources of a story he wrote during that trial.

Farr has refused, saying that personal conscience and professional ethics forbid him from breaking a pledge to keep the sources secret.

Appeals of Farr's contempt of court conviction are pending in federal and state courts but there has been no indication of when a ruling might be forthcoming.

In a case this year, Newark, N.J., newsman Peter Bridge served 20 days for refusing to answer questions of a grand jury. In 1961, newswoman Vi Murphy, now of the San Diego Union, served 30 days in a Denver, Colo., jail for refusing to reveal confidential news sources of a story she did on corruption in government.

Marriage Ends

Actress-dancer Marge Champion filed suit for divorce this week from her husband of 24 years, choreographer Gower Champion. Mrs. Champion said irreconcilable differences brought their marriage to an end. They are shown rehearsing for a TV film version of "Showboat" earlier this year. (UPI)

CBS' Technicians Returning To Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Television and radio technicians were returning to work at the Columbia Broadcasting System today after voting narrowly to accept a new contract and end their eight-week-old strike.

Picket lines set up by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers at CBS facilities here and in six other cities were taken down within an hour after the 561-509 vote was announced Thursday.

Details of the pact were not announced, but the union reportedly made concessions on several key negotiating issues involving jurisdiction over operation of new electronic devices and automation.

Arthur Korff, a spokesman for the union, said, "I'm unhappy with the company's in-road in this agreement into work that heretofore had been performed by IBEW technicians." He declined to elaborate.

Frank Stanton, CBS vice chairman, said in a statement that the agreement provides "a fair solution of the issues and makes possible the return of the good relationship with CBS."

Bombing Impact Should Be Related

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has asked that the American people be told U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would have an adverse effect on Sino-American relations. The Washington Post reported today.

The premier made the request to Post reporter Marilyn Berger on Thursday night in Peking before a banquet given for Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks.

The Post report said that Chou's statement marks the first time a Chinese official has said U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would affect the recent detente between the United States and Communist China.

While receiving guests before the banquet, Chou was asked if the bombing would affect Sino-American relations, the Post said. His reply: "Certainly. Surely."

Asked how the breach could be healed, Chou said, "Stop." Then he added, "The United States government should stop the bombing. I hope you will convey my answer to the American people," the Post reported.

Among Indian tribes that originally made their homes in Colorado were the Arapaho, the Comanche, the Kowa and the Ute.

'Don't Need Electricity'

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP) — A huge hydroelectric power plant is rising near this Western Michigan community, but when it begins operation in a few days one couple will have no use for it.

"You don't need electricity," said 75-year-old Charles Peterson in telling why his home is not wired for electricity. "No-body does."

Peterson and his wife, Eva, 77, live in a neat, cozy two-story house with much of the simplicity that characterized homes around the turn of the century.

They used to farm the land that had been in Mrs. Peterson's family since 1864, but they sold it several years ago. Now they keep busy with the daily chores their simple life demands.

Four kerosene lamps provide light for reading and two wood-burning stoves—one large and the other small—warm the small home.

"We just light the little one when it's not too cold," Mrs. Peterson said. "It's called a bachelor's stove."

The Petersons have yielded to the modern era, however, placing a new bathtub in what appears to be a small hall off the kitchen.

"Sure we've got a bathtub. You think we run dirty?" Peterson said laughing.

"We just pump water from our well, put it on the stove in three large kettles and in no time the water is nice and hot."

Out past the old hand pump by the back door is a small, well-built square structure.

"Nothing fancy," Peterson said. "Frills ain't no good for an old man. It's good and tight; no snow can get in."

"But it's up to date," the former farmer said. "That's the way an outhouse ought to be."

The kitchen is dominated by a large wood-burning Atlanta stove and a long table. The small room is filled with steam from the three kettles bubbling briskly on the stove.

Off the kitchen is the woodshed, filled with neatly stacked split wood.

"I like to get my exercise," he noted. "I pump water outside and bring it in. When I need wood, I cut it by hand."

The Petersons pay scant attention to their famous neighbor—the Consumers Power-Detroit Edison plant perched above Lake Michigan south of Ludington.

The $340 million plant sprawling across 1,400 acres, including its 840-acre man-made lake, is scheduled to open within a week. Officials say it is the world's largest facility which uses a turbine to both pump water to a lake and then generate electricity when the water is run back through.

But, Peterson said, electricity is expensive and he and his wife would not be able to stretch their budget on the money they got from selling their farm.

"I like to pay my bills, you know," he said. "And that's just one bill I don't have to pay."

But the Petersons haven't always shunned modern conveniences.

"I used to drive," he said, "but things started getting fuzzy once in a while, so I figured it was time to get off the road."

And there is their battery-powered radio.

"Sure that's modern stuff," Peterson said.

"We listen to country music and read our newspapers. We like it."

Farm Roundup

Cutbacks Hurt Farmers

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers, who were advised by a Republican political slogan last fall to "Re-elect Nixon or Lose Your Butz," have seen the Agriculture Department slice nearly $1.5 billion a year off rural programs the past three weeks.

The cutbacks, ordered by White House budget planners, have drawn sharp criticism from farm organizations and are sure to stir debate when Congress reconvenes next week.

Although heightened more recently by cuts in conservation and loan programs, the string of budget actions actually began Dec. 11, when Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz announced a 1973 feed grain program aimed at boosting corn and soybean production at less cost to taxpayers.

Payments to feed producers under the plan are expected to be down about $800 million from 1972 levels. Another $100 million or so is expected to be trimmed from cotton payments.

The latest decision, announced Wednesday, will turn off further emergency loans made by the Farmers Home Administration to farmers who may need help because of crop and livestock losses from storms, floods and severe harvest weather this fall.

No firm estimate has been made of savings as a result of the FHA decision, but some officials believe the turnoff could mean farmers will be deprived of several hundreds of millions of dollars in potential emergency aid.

Official estimates had put the FHA emergency-loan volume at $140 million for the year ending next June 30, but sources said privately the potential might have been as high as $600 million.

Earlier this week, the department announced cancellation of further aid under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) and the new Water Bank Program. Congress had authorized a combined total of $235.5 billion for those programs in 1973.

Still another December cutback was a notice that farm grain storage and drying loans by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service would be trimmed 75 per cent beginning next July 1. Estimated savings was put at about $100 million.

Not all of the cutbacks will mean savings to the government this fiscal year, the period ending next June 30. Crop program payments, for example, begin after July 1 and usually are completed by the end of the calendar year.

But the thrust of the decision is to save money and to hold down on the federal budget. Nixon has set a $250 billion maximum for all federal spending in the 1972-73 fiscal year, and the decisions to curb REAP and FHA, particularly, were made by the White House with that goal in mind.

The National Farmers Union blasted the REAP and water bank cutoff order, quietly sent by the Agriculture Department to state offices on Dec. 22, as "shocking" and wants the administration to restore the programs.

"The administration must have known it wouldn't be making any friends by doing away with these programs," NFU President Tony Dechant said in a statement. "Otherwise, it would not have waited until the

Loophole Is Closed By Gov. Reagan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed legislation which closes a loophole in California's law protecting a news reporter's right to keep confidential sources a secret from the government and the courts.

The new law prohibits grand juries or other bodies with the power of subpoena from holding newsmen who decline to reveal their sources in contempt. It becomes effective in March.

Reagan said Thursday he signed the bill because "I believe in the First Amendment to the United States Constitution which guarantees the freedom of speech and press."

"A free press is one of this country's major strengths, and the right to protect the source of information is fundamental to a newsman in meeting his full responsibilities to the public he serves."

Harry S. Truman Laid To Final Rest In Simple Dignity

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — With prayers for the man "who truly served his generation," Harry S. Truman was buried Thursday. His widow received the flag that covered his coffin. "on behalf of a grateful nation."

It was as he wished, in the simple dignity that marked his career from county politics in Missouri to president of the United States.

Mrs. Truman, his beloved Bess, white-haired and frail-appearing, sat tearless while the military paid its last honors to a former commander-in-chief.

Beside her, providing steady comfort, was daughter Margaret Truman Daniel, their only child; and Margaret's husband, Clifton Daniel, and the four Truman grandchildren.

Truman had considered himself always as "just a Missouri country boy," and he was buried in the small town where he grew up and lived, in the courtyard of the library he left for the people and in the presence only of the family and friends who shared his 88 years.

But there was one who could not be there: his unmarried sister, Mary Jane, who had cared for their aged mother until she died during Truman's presidency. Miss Mary, as he called her, was recovering from a broken hip in the same hospital where Truman died on Tuesday.

At his request, there were no eulogies for Truman, a combat officer in World War I who later devoted 30 years of his life to public service.

But there were brief prayers at a solemn service inside the small auditorium where he often lectured high school groups. The 250 invited guests included few people of national renown.

"We express our gratitude to Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Daniel for sharing a portion of his exciting, magnificent life with us," said W. Hugh McLaughlin, grand master of the Masons of Missouri, in a short Masonic service.

The Rev. John H. Lembecke, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church where the Trumans were married, offered thanks "for the good examples of all these thy servants who, having finished their course in faith, do now rest from their labors."

As cannon from Battery D, the 129th Field Artillery—Truman's old outfit—boomed a 21-gun salute, traffic stopped on the highway nearby and people got out and stood with hands over heart. Some 200-250 people were gathered outside the library, even though they could not see the ceremony.

Beginning Wednesday afternoon, and continuing until 2½ hours before the service and burial, tens of thousands walked past the bier.

Television networks covered the final (Please see TRUMAN, Page 4)

Free Israeli Hostages

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Four Arab Black September terrorists who held the Israeli Embassy here for nearly 19 hours released their six hostages Friday and left the country on a special flight for Cairo.

The Arab group had vowed to blow up the embassy with themselves and their Israeli hostages if Israel did not free a group of Palestinian prisoners.

But after negotiating all night, the four gave up that demand, ate a Moslem dinner supplied by the Thai government, and asked for safe passage to Egypt. No one was harmed.

They took their Israeli prisoners, including the ambassador, with them to the airport in a heavily guarded bus.

Before boarding the Thai plane, the terrorists freed the hostages and handed their weapons to a Thai officer.

The Arabs were accompanied on the flight by eight Thais, including two Cabinet members, to guarantee their safety.

In a final touch of bravado at the airport, the Arabs said one machine gun was a gift to Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn, and another to Gen. Praphas Charusathien, the army commander in chief.

Air Marshall Dawee Chullasapaya had announced that the hostages would be freed. Then the dinner was served.

The guerrillas, some dressed in tailcoats and carrying submachine guns, sat down to chicken dinner with their six Israeli prisoners, two Thai Cabinet ministers and the Egyptian ambassador to Thailand.

The hostages included Shimon Avimor—the Israeli ambassador—and two women. The Arabs earlier had vowed to blow up the embassy unless Israel agreed to release a group of Palestinian prisoners.

Air Marshall Dawee; the Thai Deputy foreign minister, Chatchai Choonhavan, and Ambassador Moustafa Falmay el-Essawy of Egypt negotiated the agreement providing for safe conduct out of Thailand for the Arabs.

After an hour of face-to-face negotiations in the embassy, the trio emerged. Dawee told waiting newsmen that the Arabs had agreed to release the hostages for the sake of "the king of Thailand and the Thai people."

Soon afterward, the three officials, smiling broadly, returned to the embassy with armloads of Moslem food, including curried chicken and rice, onions, garlic, two bottles of whiskey, several bottles of wine and a case of oranges.

The four-man terror squad earlier had vowed to die with their hostages if their demands for the release of 36 of their comrades held in Israeli prisons were not met by 8 p.m. EST Thursday.

Bombers Continue Saturation Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers kept up their aerial blitz against the Hanoi-Haiphong complex Thursday and the saturation attacks still took a heavy toll in aircraft losses and lives.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of its 13th and 14th giant B52 bombers and its first Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter to enemy fire. Six crewmen were reported missing and 11 rescued in the three crashes. The new losses brought the number of downed American aircraft acknowledged by the U.S. Command to 23 since bombing resumed above the 20th Parallel Dec. 18 after the secret Paris peace talks reached a deadlock. The command lists a total of 81 American airmen missing and killed.

The command also announced the heaviest American casualties in Indochina last week in nearly two years as a result of the renewed bombing campaign. An official summary listed seven Americans killed — four in air operations in Laos — 73 missing and 29 wounded Dec. 17-23.

The pro-Communist Nihon Denpa News Agency of Japan said in a dispatch from Hanoi that North Vietnamese newspapers reported MIG interceptors shot down a B52 bomber Wednesday. If true, it would be the first confirmed downing of a Stratofortress by an MIG.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command said Thursday night he could not confirm the report.

U.S. military sources have reported at least one and perhaps two MIGs shot down by tail gunners aboard B52 bombers. This indicates that MIG interceptors are rising to challenge the B52 bombers, although the U.S. Command has reported only one MIG 21 shot down and that by a fighter escort.

After a week of silence, the U.S. Command released a bomb damage report Wednesday with more than a dozen different types of targets. Nearly all the bombing was clustered in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The North Vietnamese foreign ministry issued a statement saying: "The carpet bombing by B52s has killed and wounded

Hughes May End Seclusion

LONDON (AP) — Howard Hughes, now ensconced at a posh hotel in London's Mayfair district, may be planning to end his years of self-imposed seclusion, an associate says.

"I guess he thinks that life has been passing him by a little," a Hughes aide said in a brief talk with newsmen Thursday. "He is going to change that. He is hoping to live more of a life if people will let him."

He gave no details.

The 67-year-old American tycoon's sudden arrival from earthquake-stricken Managua, Nicaragua, had British stockbrokers jittery and Laborite politicians fuming Thursday.

Speculators, convinced Hughes was here to invest, were agog with anticipation even though nothing on his plans leaked from the Inn on the Park, the swank hotel where he and his party moved.

Shares of EMI, the recording company with the Beatles under contract, rose 3 pence, or 7.2 cents, on rumors that Hughes might be in a takeover mood.

Laborite politicians were outraged at the unconventional way Hughes jetted into Britain without a passport Wednesday after leaving his previous hideaway in Nicaragua.

John Grant, spokesman for one group of Labor members, said he would raise the issue of Hughes' arrival in Parliament.

"It seems ludicrous to lay on this kind of privileged treatment to facilitate the whims of an eccentric multimillionaire when ordinary travelers frequently face frustration and delay," Grant said.

The parliamentarian charged that the government was allowing entry into Britain "based on the size of your bank balance." Immigration is currently one of Britain's touchiest issues.

Hughes was cleared by immigration officers at Gatwick Airport after they were advised by American authorities that he would be arriving without a passport. His last one has lapsed.

An American Embassy source said Hughes had been told by Washington officials that he must apply in person at the embassy if he wants to renew it. But now that he has been admitted to Britain, he has no need of a passport to stay and can also return to the United States without one.

Appearing personally at the embassy would mean a break with Hughes' 20-year custom of shunning the outside world.

Amtrak Announces High-Speed Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-speed turbine-powered passenger trains will begin running in the Midwest by next summer, Amtrak announced Thursday.

The publicly subsidized railroad corporation said it is leasing two trains from a French railway equipment manufacturer and is buying two others from United Aircraft Corp.

The trains will operate on Chicago-Milwaukee and St. Louis-Chicago routes. Powered by airplane-type gas turbine engines, the trains have a low center of gravity and can operate faster than conventional equipment under existing track and right-of-way conditions.

Roger Lewis, president of the National Railroad Passenger Corp., said, "We are convinced from our experience with electrified Metroliners in the Washington-New York corridor that the public is eager to have modern, high-performance railway service."

The French trains are new units from a modernized high-speed turbo line which has been operating there since 1967. The two five-car trains, built by ANF-Fragero are being acquired under a two-year lease with an option to buy. Lewis said, through an arrangement with French National Railways.

In two years of operation between Paris and Cherbourg, ridership has increased by 25 per cent and there has been little maintenance needed, Lewis said. With a maximum speed of 125 miles an hour, the trains averaged 75 miles an hour on the Paris-Cherbourg route including stops.

If Amtrak buys the French trains, the cost will be $2.2 million each. The two other trains, costing $4.1 million each, are four-car sets built by United Aircraft Corp. for the Canadian National Railway. Those to be used by Amtrak are identical to those serving the route between Montreal and Toronto. They were deemed surplus to the Canadians after a shift in railroad car groupings.

An Amtrak spokesman said it was not known how fast the four trains would operate on the Midwest runs. He said no track alterations are planned before service begins but some may be needed later.

Standby Draft Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the draft winds down in 1973, Selective Service will begin a new registration system designed to be less bothersome for 18-year-old and to cut down on draft board paperwork.

Daniel J. Cronin, deputy draft director in charge of operations, told a reporter Thursday this will save the government an estimated $2.5 million a year.

This new standby draft system the Nixon administration wants, Cronin said, will mean the average young man will spend about three minutes registering, instead of 10 minutes, and will have one draft card instead of two. He will not have to fill out a long questionnaire unless he gets a low lottery number and will not hear from his draft board after he registers and gets his card unless he gets a low number.

Draft authority granted by Congress is due to expire July 1, and the Nixon administration has said it is not asking that it be renewed. However, the administration wants the draft machinery to continue operating on a standby basis.

Men would continue to register and lotteries would be held but only those with low numbers would be classified and given inductions exams.

The streamlined registration system goes into effect in January, however.

The Pentagon has said fewer than 10,000 men will be drafted between now and July 1 and that there will be no January draft call.

Cronin said he hopes next year's draft calls can be filled with extended priority men, those who lost deferments or exemptions late this year and who have draft numbers below the 1972 cutoff of

Attempt To Squelch Looting In Managua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Shooting broke out anew in downtown Managua Thursday as the National Guard strove to evacuate the earthquake-stricken city and squelch widespread looting.

Unofficial reports said at least 32 people had been treated for bullet wounds in emergency hospitals set up since the Saturday earthquake that left 2,000-5,000 dead, 20,000 seriously hurt and thousands homeless.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the country's military strongman, declared in a radio broadcast that his country's biggest immediate problem was the "abominable beings" who loot and pillage the few standing homes and stores in the city center.

Several thousand survivors have defied strict orders to leave the emergency and epidemic zones and continue looting food, clothes and furniture.

Martial law, reinforced patrols, curfews and threats by Somoza that looters will be shot were of no avail. Those remaining in the downtown section refused to budge, protecting their few remaining belongings and searching for missing relatives.

One old woman struggling to pull a rolled-up rug through a broken window of a crumbling building was asked if she wasn't afraid of getting shot.

"There can be no further death," she panted. "We are already dead from hunger, dead from the cold and dead from fear... what more can happen?"

Many of those in the city complained they had received no food, water or assistance of any kind.

But this was in keeping with Somoza's orders that no food be distributed to those refusing to evacuate so that demolition and clearing of gutted buildings could be carried out.

Authorities also feared threat of an epidemic, and a massive inoculation campaign against tetanus and typhoid was under way.

Lack of transportation in the distribution of food continued to be a problem.

Canadian Diplomat Succumbs To Cancer

OTTAWA (AP) — Lester B. Pearson—the quiet, likeable diplomat who won the Nobel Peace Prize and was prime minister of Canada for five years, died Wednesday night of cancer at his Ottawa home. He was 75.

The government made plans for a state funeral in Ottawa's Christ Church Anglican Cathedral, with burial at Wakefield, Que., near the summer home of Canada's prime ministers.

The date of the funeral was to be announced later.

Pearson and his wife, Maryon, were in Florida shortly before Christmas but flew home when his condition worsened. Cancer caused removal of one eye in 1970, and doctors said the disease spread to his liver.

"He was a man of ability and good will who worked a greater part of his life to make the world a better place for others," said his successor, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

Pearson's diplomatic career reached its high point when he received Canada's only Nobel Peace Prize for his work in forging the U.N. Peacekeeping Force in the Middle East in 1956. The uneasy peace collapsed in the six-day war of 1967 shortly before Pearson retired from politics.

As prime minister of a Liberal party government that lacked a majority in the Canadian House of Commons, Pearson still put through a succession of welfare and reform measures. They included national medical-care insurance, special recognition for Quebec, trial abolition of capital punishment and adoption of the red-and-white Canadian maple leaf flag replacing the Red Ensign bearing the British Union Jack.

The new flag emphasized Canada's emergence as a middle power, more independent from both Britain and the United States, although political foes charged Pearson was subservient to Washington.

He also was attacked for advocating nuclear arms for Canada but replied the country must live up to its commitments in the Atlantic Alliance.

Sees Change As 'The Order of the Day'

James Kirkpatrick

Change is "the order of the day" in Missouri, Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick said Thursday in Sedalia. Kirkpatrick spoke before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club at the Bothwell Hotel.

The secretary of state pointed out that a Republican administration will take office next month for the first time in 28 years. He also said there will be a large number of new faces in the General Assembly.

Kirkpatrick said reorganization of the executive branch, authorized in the August primary, is a top-priority item for the General Assembly. "If reorganization is going to make government more effective, efficient and responsive to the needs of the people, it must do more than just reshuffle existing agencies like a deck of cards," he said.

Noting that the state will have a surplus in the treasury, and that federal revenue sharing funds will continue to come in, Kirkpatrick said Missouri will have an additional $121 million by the end of fiscal year 1973-74.

He said he has urged Governor-elect Christopher Bond to allocate money for a new state records center, library and museum, and cited facts and figures to justify the request.

Surveying state expenditures in the Sedalia area, the secretary of state pointed out that highway construction accounts for the most dollars. He said $4.8 million in state highway contracts were let this year in Pettis County. The $133,000 received by Sedalia in motor fuel tax revenues during the last fiscal year will increase to about $182,000 during the current fiscal year as a result of the 2-cent gas tax hike, Kirkpatrick said.

"All levels of government are going to be providing expanded services in the next year," the secretary of state said. He concluded:

"New faces in the elected offices, in the General Assembly, reorganization of the executive branch, new programs funded by federal revenue sharing, development of our natural resources and continued expansion of our agricultural and industrial bases are all part of what's ahead for Missouri — a government continually seeking to better serve the people."

WASHINGTON — Something is happening to the weather in this country and it's causing tremendous anxiety amongst the people. In the days before television, nobody really cared THAT much about weather. You got up in the morning and looked out the window. If it was raining, you put on rubbers — if it was snowing, you put on boots. If it was a lousy day, you always figured that tomorrow the sun would shine.

Buchwald

land. This not only causes traumas in most American households, it also polarizes the country.

For example, the other night a group of friends were watching the weather on the local news. The jolly newscaster was standing in front of a map of the North American continent chuckling as he informed us that we could expect rain, sleet and fog for the next 48 hours. Had he let it go at that, nobody would have been too upset, but he decided to go into a long explanation about what cause it.

Using his pointer he said, "As you can see, there is mass of cold air coming in from Canada."

"Canada always keeps sending us cold masses of air," my friend Harry Dalinsky said. "If Nixon has any guts he'll tell them to knock it off or else."

"Or else what?" Collins Bird asked.

"We'll send them masses of cold air that will make their masses of cold air look like a trade wind," Dalinsky said.

"I wouldn't fool with Canada when it comes to cold air masses," Bird said. "They have a cold air superiority over us of five to one."

The announcer continued his chalk talk.

"This cold air mass from Canada is expected to meet with this warm air mass coming up from the South, which will cause rain, sleet and fog that will arrive in our area tomorrow morning."

"There is your problem," said Carey Winston. "It isn't cold air coming from Canada that is causing the trouble, it's the warm air from the South. They shouldn't allow the South to send up any warm air at the same time Canada is sending down cold air."

"Nixon isn't going to make the South stop sending up warm air, not after what they did for him during the election," Jim Symington said.

"He has always maintained," Dalinsky agreed, "that the exporting of warm air should be left to the individual states."

The weatherman was still talking away. "The Midwest can expect heavy snow which is blowing in from the Rockies."

"I'll bet you the people in the Midwest are really mad at the Rockies," Collins Bird said.

"They shouldn't have settled so near the Rockies," Carey Winston said. "I have no sympathy for them."

"Why do you say that?" I asked.

"Because the Midwest sends us all their bad weather. They get furious because they have all that snow dumped on them, so they want to dump it on someone else," Winston replied. "I'll start feeling sorry for people who live in the Middle West when they stop dropping their snow on us."

The announcer continued. "The thunderstorms are expected in Texas and Oklahoma."

"They'll probably get a tax depletion allowance for them," Symington said.

"Now," said the weatherman, "let's look at our satellite map of the United States. As you can see, there is a cloud cover over the entire United States except for Key Biscayne, Fla., where the President is spending his holidays."

My wife said, "It figures."

Another electoral maverick

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — Roger L. MacBride, of Charlottesville, Va., won himself a footnote in history the other day. There his name will stand forever, down in the fine type with Samuel Miles, William Plumer, Preston Parks, W.F. Turner, Henry P. Irwin, and Dr. Lloyd W. Bailey.

Kilpatrick

Never heard of them? These are the maverick presidential electors of American political history. In their own eyes, they put principle above party. In another view, they dishonored a public trust. Having been placed on the ballot in the clear understanding that, if elected, they would vote for Candidate A, they voted instead for Candidate B. MacBride, a Republican elector, cast his vote for Republican Richard Nixon, but for Libertarian John Hospers.

It is a wonder, considering our wide-open constitutional situation, that so few mavericks have leaped the fences of understanding and expectation. Miles, a Pennsylvania Federalist, refused to vote in 1796 for Adams; he voted for Jefferson. Plumer, a New Hampshire elector, refused in 1820 to vote for Monroe; he voted for John Quincy Adams instead.

Then a long time elapsed. It wasn't until 1948 that the problem arose anew when Parks, a Tennessee Democrat, cast his vote for Thurmond instead of Truman. In 1956, Turner could not stomach Adlai Stevenson; he cast his Alabama electoral vote for Judge Walter E. Jones. In 1960, an Oklahoma elector, Henry P. Irwin, chosen as a Republican, tried to get an anti-Kennedy revolution going in the electoral college; his effort failed, but he stubbornly cast one vote from Oklahoma for Harry F. Byrd. Dr. Bailey, a North Carolina Republican, in 1968 abandoned his implied commitment, and wrote in the name of Wallace.

The list is not long, in terms of the thousands of electors who have served. None of the mavericks ever cast a decisive vote. All the same, it is sobering to observe that in five of the past seven presidential elections, individual electors have played a potentially dangerous game.

The mavericks cannot be criticized in one respect: They have played by the rules. If they have been morally wrong, they have been constitutionally right. Neal R. Peirce, whose "The People's President" remains the most readable book in this field, has made it clear that "under the Constitution, the elector remains a free agent and, if he chooses, can vote in any way he likes."

Thomas Hart Benton, the great Missourian, warned of these evils a century ago. An elector, he said, "may give or sell his vote to the adverse candidate, in violation of all the pledges that have been taken of him. The crime is easily committed, for he votes by ballot; detection difficult, because he does not sign it; prevention is impossible, for he cannot be coerced; the injury irreparable, for the vote cannot be vacated; legal punishment is unknown, and would be inadequate."

It is immaterial that MacBride's wild-card vote a few days ago had no effect on Nixon's landslide. In so vital an area as a presidential election, our law ought to be made secure. The archaic machinery of the electoral college should be junked and these mischievous footnotes be banished hereafter.

In my view, three amendments are needed: (1) The electors, as such, should be abolished. (2) The contingent arrangement also should be scrapped by which the choice of a President can be thrown into the House, with each state casting a single vote. (3) We should revise the present scheme of winner-take-all.

The third point is the main one. The direct national election of a President, by popular vote, is a bad idea: It would violate our whole federal scheme. A wise alternative to direct election can be found in a plan that would award a state's electoral vote according to the vote for each candidate. Thus in Virginia, which went 70-30 for Nixon, the 12 electoral votes might have been divided 8-4 for Nixon, 3-6 for McGovern.

Thanks to the rebel MacBride, Virginia's vote officially was cast as Nixon, 11; Hospers, 1. It was a mockery of our democratic process. But thanks to the rebel MacBride, interest may yet be revived in changing our basic law.

Lawyers to defend
First Amendment

In recent weeks several newsmen have been jailed for refusing to divulge confidential material or the sources of such material to courts and grand juries looking into criminal cases.

The arrests and jailings have followed a recent Supreme Court decision that newsmen have no special right to withhold information bearing on a crime.

Now one group has counter-attacked. An association of 3,500 New York trial lawyers has announced that its members will provide free legal defense to any network, station, editor or reporter "who because of protecting the First Amendment rights of the people finds itself, himself or its license in jeopardy."

The group defense pool is limited primarily to New York, but will go wherever its services are needed, according to Melvin Block, president of the New York Trial Lawyers Association. "This is not the media's fight alone, it is the people's fight," declared Block.

He added: "We are in the throes of attempted massive suppression of news media and the attempted decimation of viable and aggressive journalism. Not in a long time has the First Amendment come under such a major attack."

Block said "the straw that broke the camel's back" was a recent disclosure by Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy. That announcement fell like a bombshell in the entire television industry.

What Whitehead said was that the Nixon Administration had drafted proposed legislation to hold local TV stations responsible, when license renewal time comes around, for the "taste and balance" of locally-aired network news and entertainment programs.

The prospect of some federal bureaucrat exercising his taste and judgment in the name of the American people when it comes to television programming is enough to give even the most docile journalist nightmares. The New York Trial Lawyers rightly saw this as a clear threat to First Amendment safeguards.

The print media have sometimes been reluctant to join with their brothers in radio and television in resisting the growing federal incursion into broadcast journalism. But this case is clearly one that demands unity.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The employment of President Nixon's 26-year-old nephew, Donald Nixon Jr., was the subject last year of a "Personal and Confidential" memo between two top aides of international financier Robert L. Vesco.

The memo, dated Aug. 10, 1971, was written by Vesco's right-hand man in America, Gilbert R. J. Straub, to the right-hand man in Europe, Norman LeBlanc. Copies were sent to other top Vesco executives.

"With the agreement of Robert L. Vesco," wrote Straub, "I have secured the services of Don Nixon, Jr. ... Per our recent conversation, we have agreed to compensate him monthly as a 'consultant,' the mechanics to be determined by your good offices..."

"It is thoroughly understood that Don is to be treated without preferential consideration, and I have assumed the responsibility for his actions and activities within the framework of his employment. Accordingly, any extraordinary or restrictive disciplinary actions, should they be required, should come through me."

In other words, the Nixon nephew wasn't supposed to receive special treatment, but no underlings had better try to discipline him. A source inside the Vesco operation tells us Donald not only was treated with deference but he also capitalized on his relationship to the President.

Our source says the White House was apprehensive when Donald went to work for Vesco and stipulated that he should go on the payroll of International Controls Corporation rather than Investors Overseas Service. Although both companies are part of Vesco's financial empire, IOS had received bad publicity over some alleged stock manipulations. ICC, therefore, was more acceptable. Not wishing to antagonize the White House, Vesco worked out the details of Donald's employment with Straub. As stipulated by Straub in his confidential memo, young Nixon "is to be an employee of mine acting within my corporate identity of ICC; ... he is not in any way to be considered or reached the status of an IOS employee."

Merry-go-round

Special job status

Vesco was anxious, according to our source, to prevent any embarrassment to the President. Donald, therefore, was assigned inconspicuous duties at first in Europe. But as Vesco got into increasingly hot water with the Securities and Exchange Commission, the temptation was irresistible to associate himself with the Nixons.

This 'culminated in the recent news reports that the President's nephew is now employed in the Bahamas as a personal aide to Vesco, himself, who has been accused of diverting $224 million in mutual funds into companies he controls.

Footnote: When Donald first joined the Vesco organization, White House aide John Ehrlichman gave him a stern lecture, reminding him that he was the President's nephew and should do nothing to embarrass the President. Our repeated calls to young Nixon, Straub and LeBlanc were not returned.

COST OF MILK — Milk prices are expected to soar, thanks indirectly to the Russian wheat deal. Dairy farmers are bitterly complaining that the wheat shipments to Russia have them short of feed grain. This has pushed the cost of feeding their herds to exorbitant levels. Many dairymen have also been hurt by heavy rains, which have washed out attempts to grow their own feed. The farmers were promised emergency feed grain from the Agriculture Department, but it has been slow in coming. Reason: Transportation facilities have been tied up moving the Russian wheat to the coast for shipment.

POLITICAL ACTION — Joseph Blatchford, the director of Action which has taken over the old Peace Corps, has been spending an inordinate amount of time on "agency business" in the Los Angeles area. He keeps flying out to the West Coast to make speeches and deliver announcements. Last fall, he campaigned in the L.A. area for President Nixon. The reason for Blatchford's intense interest in Los Angeles, say associates, is a burning desire to be mayor. They recall that senators, before confirming him as Action's director in 1969, questioned whether he would use the office for political purposes. He solemnly denied any such rough intention.

WASHINGTON WINDS — Hurricane Agnes victims are now trying to cope with the changing winds out of Washington. At first, they were allowed emergency money for temporary repairs on their homes. The contract stipulated that the temporary repairs "should be replaced by permanent repairs at the earliest opportunity." Many victims, in an attempt to honor their contracts, took out SBA loans to make the repairs permanent. Now they have been notified that "SBA funds disbursed for such work already performed must be returned to SBA." This has produced such a controversy that the SBA again is reviewing its policy. As with most government indecision, the situation is now under "study." The study, of course, is expected to cost the taxpayers another estimated $500,000.

DOUBLE DIPPING — We have told about the habit of retired officers to take a second government job and double-dip from the Treasury, collecting both their military pension and government pay at the same time. But of all the double-dippers we have encountered, the prize goes to retired Maj. Gen. John Freund who has turned up as head of Connecticut's National Guard. He now collects $25,000 a year from the state and another $22,000 in military retirement benefits. He also has two sedans at his disposal, one a state car, the other a military sedan. He makes free use, too, of the Guard's small air fleet. "I very frequently take a helicopter to work from my home," he acknowledged candidly. "It takes only 18 minutes." The pilots, he explained, need the flight time.

lottery No. 95. He said he hopes none who turned 19 this year— who comprise the 1973 prime draft pool—will have to be called.

However, just in case they're needed, physical and mental exams have been given to those with Nos. 1 through 70, a total of 108,000. But draft officials don't expect under any circumstances to reach beyond No. 40, almost certainly far below that.

Young men are still required to register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday. And a lottery is planned each February for those during the year they turn 19.

Truman

rites. The Truman family sat unseen behind a green curtain during the auditorium service.

The library carillon sounded at five-second intervals, a sound carried down the knoll where the library stands to the streets beyond that Truman had walked so often.

For the last time, the former president received the salute to which few are entitled—the fanfare and drumroll of “Ruffles and Flourishes.” Then, as the American and presidential flags fluttered in the breeze, the national anthem.

Eight men from all the armed services slowly carried the coffin to the graveside, 25 feet from, and in view of, the window of the office where he had worked.

There was no eulogy, in deference to Truman's wishes. He had always said a man's accomplishments ought to stand by themselves, unadorned.

As the military pallbearers held the American flag over the coffin, an artillery battery fired a 21-gun salute, echoing through the courtyard where the mourners stood in solemn silence and military men saluted.

Then, after an Army sergeant sounded Taps on a bugle and the band played “America the Beautiful,” the pallbearers folded the American flag. It was offered to Mrs. Truman with these words:

“This flag is presented to you on behalf of a grateful nation as a token of appreciation for the honorable and faithful service rendered by your loved one.”

She accepted it with a quiet “thank you,” and was escorted from the site.

Daughter Margaret, who recently published a biography of her father, took the flag from Mrs. Truman and followed her into the library. Behind them came Clifton Daniel, her husband, and the four grandchildren: Clifton, 15; William, 13; Harrison, 9 and Thomas, 6.

Then the mourners left, leaving behind the coffin, now covered with a blanket of carnations—Truman's favorite flower.

The invited guests—about 250—were from every strata of life.

A few public officials: the governors of Kansas and Missouri, Senators Hubert H. Humphrey and Thomas Eagleton; the congressman from his district, William Randall.

Some from his presidential years: W. Averell Harriman, Clark Clifford and Edwin Pauley.

Some from his early days: lawyer Rufus Burris, some of his comrades from World War I.

And some who had served him: William Story, a library guard; Vietta Garr, the family maid; Rose Conway, his secretary for decades.

And there were many who were friends, both before he became famous and afterward: Charlie Hipsch, Randall Jessee, artist Thomas Hart Benton.

Mrs. Truman, the childhood sweetheart who shared his triumphs and troubles for more than 53 years, emerged from the seclusion of her grief for the first time since Truman's death.

Despite her 87 years, she had made an almost constant vigil by her 88-year-old husband's side as he fought for life against the infirmities of age in his terminal illness.

It was her wish that the lying-in-state and the services have as few as possible of the ornate trappings that attend other state funerals, and the three days since Truman's death were conducted in that spirit.

President Nixon, former President Lyndon B. Johnson and their wives stood wordlessly Wednesday before the coffin of the man who preceded them in the nation's highest office and set a domestic and worldwide course they followed.

Other dignitaries were invited to a memorial service in Washington's National Cathedral next Friday, so that those who were here would represent the close friends, rather than the famous.

After Truman's coffin was placed on a black silk-draped catafalque in the lobby of the library Wednesday, the doors were opened to allow his townspeople to bid farewell.

And they came by the tens of thousands, waiting hours in lines that ran ten abreast at spots for as much as a mile. The lines continued until 3:30 a.m. and reformed in the morning until the doors were closed after more than 20 hours. A spokesman for the 5th Army, which handled the state funeral, estimated that 75,000 passed through and that no one was turned away.

Managua

that the wrong supplies and wrong people keep arriving in Managua while the most important airports in the area are jammed by aid shipments. Mercy flights from Europe have to be rerouted to points far away.

Stanislaus urged Red Cross societies to contribute cash but stop sending personnel or relief supplies unless they receive specific requests.

“How can I leave here?” asked a young man guarding the ruins of his home in one of the areas declared off limits. “The government says they will rebuild the city but I have received no piece of paper which assures me that some day they will return my property to me.”

Estimates of those remaining in Managua ranged as high as 15,000. Many were relief and rescue workers, medical personnel, guardsmen and members of work units, but a large number were just roaming around, foraging for food and waiting for conditions to improve.

The city had a ghostly aspect illuminated at night only by a few fires set by looters.

Troops, newsmen and medical personnel moved through the ruins of the city wearing masks to avoid the death smell.

The death toll continued to climb with the deaths of many wounded who could not receive emergency medical attention. Bodies were still being recovered from the ruins.

MBA Sues

To Halt Pay Plan

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri Broadcasters Association sued in Cole County Circuit Court Thursday to halt a pay TV plan by International Telemeter Corp. to broadcast St. Louis Blues hockey games to its Jefferson City customers.

The association charged the pay TV series, which started Dec. 20, is a clear violation of a Jefferson City ordinance barring any pay TV program by the company under its franchise.

Under the plan, International Telemeter, which operates the Jefferson City Cable TV system, charges $2.50 a game for 12 games plus a $3 installation fee and a $20 deposit on the converter.

The MBA president, Donald Moeller, general manager of KYTV at Springfield, said “if this type of pay television grows, it is inevitable that many sporting events will be available only to cable TV subscribers who can afford an additional fee, rather than seeing or hearing the games by free commercial television and radio.”

He said paying extra charges for certain cable TV events “sets a dangerous precedent. Ultimately, cable television could control all broadcasting of a certain team, making the games available only to those who can afford an extra charge, with the games not being available on free commercial television and radio.”

Dan Healey, general manager of International Telemeter in Jefferson City, said, “We did our legal homework quite some time ago. We obviously felt confident we were well within our rights.”

He called the hockey programs “a field market test of a particular situation and said the special series does not replace any normal channel TV reception because it is carried on a completely separate service channel.

Healey said he thought it was interesting that the broadcasters association brought the suit, rather than the city.

The ordinance covering the cable TV franchise says in part, “The company is specifically not authorized to engage in the operation of any program known as ‘pay TV’ where an additional fee is charged by the use of coin boxes or other devices to collect a charge based on the viewing time of a particular program.”

Approve Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — A technicians strike of more than seven weeks against the Columbia Broadcasting System ended Thursday when the strikers narrowly voted to approve a new CBS contract offer.

The nationwide vote was 561 to accept the CBS offer and 509 to reject it, said Art Korff, spokesman for the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

“It is expected the men will start returning to work over the next 48-hour period,” he said. “Negotiators for both sides will formalize the agreement within the next few days.”

He declined to give details of the contract, other than to say it was for three years and included wage hikes of 5.5 per cent for each of the three years.

The vote ended a strike that began Nov. 3 when about 1,200 CBS television cameramen, technicians and engineers walked off the job after union and management negotiators failed to agree on a new contract to replace one that expired Nov. 1.

Collision Injures

Mrs. Keefe was charged with failure to yield the right of way and is scheduled to appear in Sedalia police court Jan. 5.
